UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, July 1.—General operations in the gigantic Allied offensive against Japanese island bases north of Australia are "proceeding successfully," a headquarters bulletin said tonight.

The special night bulletin on the large-scale drive which already has resulted in occupation of two island groups east of New Guinea, landings on two islands in the Solomons and occupation of Nassau Bay, New Guinea, said that a constant cover of Allied fighter planes is protecting the occupation forces.

Pincers Drive

Headquarters disclosed that speedy torpedo boats are playing a large part in the combined air, sea and ground operations in the campaign which is shaping into a formidable pincers drive aimed at the principal Nipponese base of Rabaul, New Britain Island. Rabaul, 700 miles northeast of the tip of Cape York Peninsula, Australia, itself underwent bombardments from American Flying Forts.

Certain phases of the operations, headquarters said, are being com-

LOCAL TWINS BECOME FATHERS DAY APART; BOTH ARE SOLDIERS

An unusual circumstance was reported from the Jameson Memorial hospital today, when it became known that two local soldiers, Pvt. Charles Byler, of 346 Shaw street, and Pvt. David Byler, of 908 Croton avenue, who are twins, became fathers just a day apart.

The attending physician reported that it was one of the most unusual coincidences reported during his career as a doctor, and the little cousins are the center of attraction at the hospital. Both are boys, too.

Secretary Knox Tells Americans To 'Become Tough'

"Act Tough" Until Enemies Of Democracy Are Utterly Defeated

VICTORY AHEAD; ALSO HARD BATTLE

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, July 1—Warning that the road to victory will be a long hard route—costly in life and struggle—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox today called upon all America to become a "tough people" and to "act tough" until the enemies of democracy are utterly defeated.

Launching a $40,000,000 war bond drive to finance a new heavy cruiser named for the city of Los Angeles, Secretary Knox told a cheering audience of 25,000 in the star-canopied Hollywood Bowl last night, that while victory is not yet in sight, it is certain as tomorrow's sunrise.

Most Powerful Fleet

Despite America's heavy losses at Pearl Harbor, he declared, "we now have the most powerful fleet in all the world.

"And by the end of this year, we shall have increased that fleet, over the fleet of 1942, by 60 per cent in tonnage and 100 per cent in number." Weaving a reassuring theme of inevitable victory through his warnings against over-optimism, Secretary Knox declared:

"What I am trying to tell you is that in this war we have now seized the initiative. But that does not mean that the war has been won or that victory is just around the corner."

There is absolutely nothing to warrant such optimism, he said.

"The enemy, both east and west,

Quake Shock Felt In Tokyo

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 1.—Thousands of residents of Tokyo rushed from their homes into the streets of the Japanese capital city today when a strong earthquake shook the city, according to a broadcast by the Domei news agency.

The strong earth tremor lasted for a full minute and swayed buildings in Tokyo, said the broadcast recorded by Reuter.

Domei said that the quake was sharp but claimed that only slight damage resulted. The damage was said to have been confined to walls of older houses. The tremor stopped numerous clocks.

The epicenter of shock was said to have been at Shimotsuma, about 50 miles northeast of Tokyo.

Italian Fleet In Gulf Of Taranto Says New Report

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 1.—Stockholm newspapers reported today, according to a dispatch from Reuter, that Italian fleet units formerly berthed at the main west coast naval base of Spezia now are in the gulf of Tarranto.

Earlier this week there were unconfirmed reports that Italian warships had left their regular bases. Some doubtful suggestions were advanced that the Italian men of war possibly were preparing for offensive operations but it was believed more likely they were seeking safer and less conspicuous havens.

The reports in the Stockholm press did not specify when the purported movement from the bomb-blasted base of Spezia took place or the number of vessels supposedly involved.

United Nations Offensive On Japan Begins

Forces Smash At Japs From Two Directions Under Gen. MacArthur

ARMY, NAVY AND AIR FORCES STRIKE

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 1—The first coordinated United Nations offensive against Japan was in full swing today with Allied land, sea and air forces under Gen. Douglas MacArthur smashing from two directions against Japanese-held islands in the south and southwest Pacific.

The surprise news that a two-pronged offensive drive was under way from New Guinea and the Solomons came from MacArthur's headquarters in Australia after the navy revealed in Washington that American forces had landed on Rendova Island in the Central Solomons.

The communique from Australia stated that Allied infantry, naval and air forces operating under MacArthur for the first time had occupied the Woodlark and Trobriand islands and Nassau Bay in the New Guinea area while other United Nations forces invaded Rendova and New Georgia islands in the Central Solomons.

Global Strategy

These actions came after months of preparations and conferences between United Nations and American army and navy officials in the war zones and in Washington, indicating that the moves were fitted into the Allied global strategy to smash Germany, Italy and Japan.

The major offensive came as a stunning climax to the first six months of warfare in the Pacific this year which consisted mainly of consolidating United Nations positions and preparing for further blows against Japan.

The developments provided a startling answer to the puzzling

SUICIDE RAIDS MAY BE TRIED AGAINST U. S.

(International News Service)

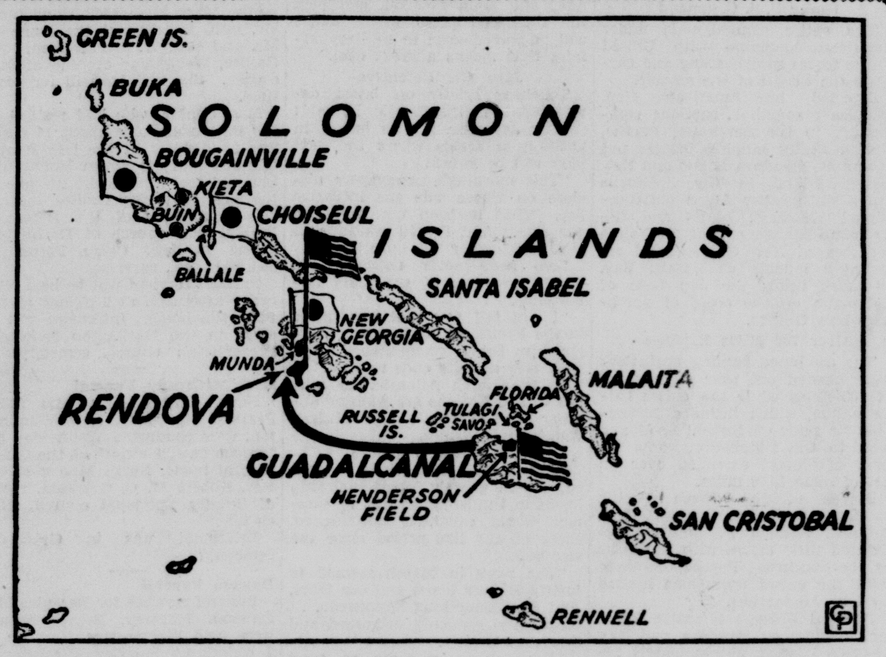

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Secretary of War Stimson reported today that America's total air strength over Europe was increasing while it was learned from other sources that military leaders feared that Japan or Germany may attempt suicide air raids on the United States in an attempt to force back planes already sent to Europe for a defensive air warfare.

Stimson, at a news conference, reported a general lull in land fighting throughout the world, but he said that the day and night pounding of Europe was being carried out with "increasing fierceness". The British and American night and day air raids on Hitler's European Fortress are causing widespread destruction, he added.

He reported that a substantial number of American planes were being lost because Germany was being forced to withdraw fighter strength from other fronts in attempt to check the air assault However, Stimson added:

"The lost planes are being replaced promptly and the total air strength over Europe is increasing."

YANKS LAND IN HEART OF JAP-HELD SOLOMONS

Heart of the Jap-held Solomons has been pierced by American forces, which have landed on Rendova island in the New Georgia group, only five miles from the big enemy base at Munda. The newest American thrust, indicated on the above map, was made at a point 175 miles northwest of Guadalcanal and halfway to the principal Japanese base on Bougainville island.

Only Clemency Act By President Will Save Stephan From Gallows

(International News Service)

MILAN, Mich., July 1.—Although his last few hours slowly pass by, Max Stephan today is hopeful that he will be saved from the gallows by presidential clemency.

The convicted German-born traitor, scheduled to die on the gallows here early tomorrow morning, expressed this hope last night in a letter to his wife, who is being held prisoner in a concentration camp in Texas.

"I only have 39 hours to live," Stephan wrote, "and I hope and pray that the President will still save my neck."

Prison authorities said that what was probably Mrs. Stephan's last letter to her husband was received yesterday. The letter, they said, was cheerful and used only the letter "T" to designate treason.

But Mrs. Stephan, it was learned, has made no request to see her husband before he dies and he has not asked that she be brought from the Texas camp for a final visit.

But the hope that President Roosevelt will commute his sentence hasn't given the prisoner too much courage.

Stephan is afraid.

LONDON, July 1.—British submarines have sunk three and possibly five Axis vessels in operations "in Italian waters," the admiralty announced today.

"They sank a large transport, a large supply vessel and a medium supply vessel."

They are believed to have sunk another medium supply ship and a fifth vessel.

Soviet And German Forces In Minor Thrusts West Of Moscow

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, July 1.—Soviet and German forces today engaged in strong reconnaissance thrusts on the central front west of Moscow which were parried by each side with artillery and machine-gun bursts.

The Soviet high command at noon announced a successful drive during the night and early today by a Russian reconnaissance group on the Moscow front.

During the night, the communique said, Soviet engineers prepared a passage through Nazi minefields and at dawn the reconnaissance force crossed an unidentified river and broke into German trenches. The Russians destroyed two blockhouses, killed 100 Germans and brought back prisoners.

Sicily, Port Of Palermo, And Messina Are All Again Bombed

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, July 1. — Devastating new raids on the European stepping-stone island of Sicily, including a sizable American Flying Fortress raid on the Port of Palermo, were announced today.

The new series of battering assaults on Sicily, just opposite the toe of the Italian boot across the Strait of Messina, got under way with an attack Tuesday night by bombers of the northwest African air forces on the Messina ferry terminal.

Three airfields in all were hammered in ensuing daylight attacks, a communique from headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said.

In the bomber assault on Messina, the communique said, the railway marshalling yards and the ferry terminal were well covered with bomb bursts.

BATTLE OF RUHR DECLARED WON

London Corrspondent Asserts Allied Attacks Have Been Successful

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 1.—The battle of the Ruhr has been won, the Daily Herald air correspondent declared today.

While more air raids on the cradle of the Nazi war machine may be necessary to complete the Ruhr devastation and to prevent rebuilding of war manufacturing plants, the RAF bomber command's main objective has been achieved and the main weight of aerial assaults on the Reich may be expected to shift soon to targets father afield, the writer said.

He declared the Ruhr's output of war materiel has declined 35 per cent and the whole of German war production by 20 per cent as a result of the Allied pre-invasion aerial onslaught.

Royal Air Forces losses in raids on Germany and Czechoslovakia during the last six months were placed at nearly 1,000, approximately 600 of which were lost in attacks on the Ruhr. During the same period about 7,000 RAF fliers were killed or captured, the writer said.

New Georgia Island Harbor Is Captured By U. S. Invaders

Air Battle Over Rendova Results In 65 Jap Planes Being Shot Down—U. S. Loses 17—U. S. Transport Sunk, But Men Are Reported Saved—Yanks Land At Five Major Locations In Wide Pacific Area

By JOSEPH A. BORS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The navy announced today that American invasion forces have captured Viru harbor on New Georgia Island and revealed that 65 out of 110 counter-attacking Japanese planes were shot down in a furious battle in the Central Solomons.

Capture of Viru harbor, only 30 miles southeast of the Jap air base at Munda, came after joint American forces had landed on Rendova Island, only five miles south of Munda.

The air battle occurred on the afternoon of June 30, 110 Japanese planes attacking in waves, attempted to drive back U. S. naval forces during the landing at Rendova.

"U. S. surface units and air forces destroyed 65 of the enemy planes, according to an incomplete report," the navy announced. "Seventeen U. S. planes are reported missing."

Transport Lost

In addition to the planes, American forces lost the transport McCawley, which was damaged by planes and later sunk by a Japanese submarine.

"Reports indicate that all personnel were removed before the vessel sank and that there was no loss of life," the navy added.

The battle report followed closely Secretary of War Stimson's assertion at a news conference this morning that the new United Nations offensive in the south and southwest Pacific was making "satisfactory progress" and that operations were proceeding "according to plan".

Heavy Resistance Seen

"Our forces have reached the outer ring of Japanese defenses and we can expect strong resistance by the enemy," Stimson said.

There were no details on the successful seizure of Viru harbor beyond the fact that it was "taken by joint U. S. forces" on July 1, Solomons time.

The Japanese aerial counter attack bore out Stimson's prediction of stiff Japanese resistance.

The Japs struck back within 12 hours after the initial American landing on Rendova island.

The navy said that the waves of Jap planes consisted of Zeros, Mitsubishi medium bombers, Aichi dive bombers and other types.

Gigantic Offensive

The Solomons action was one prong of a giant pincers offensive which was launched simultaneously from New Guinea and the Guadalcanal area.

The combined operations are under the supreme command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, hero of Bataan, although navy officers apparently were in charge of the Solomons operations.

The western prong of the large-scale, coordinated allied offensive was aimed at the Tobriand and Woodlark islands and Nassau bay.

The two islands mentioned are

Anglo-American Offensive Plans Are Speeded Up

Smashing Defeat Of U-Boat Campaign Allows Increased Operations

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 1.—A speeding up of Anglo-American plans for offensive action against the Axis in Europe, especially in the Mediterranean area, was foreseen in diplomatic circles in Washington today as a result of the smashing defeat inflected on the German submarine fleet in the Atlantic.

British Prime Minister Churchill's encouraging report on the successful Allied campaign against the U-boats during May and June led the diplomatic observers to believe the launching of strong land and sea, as well as air, attacks on the fringes of Hitler's European Fortress may come sooner than has been expected.

However, the view still prevails that the impending operations will be confined chiefly to the Mediterranean, with no major invasion attempt in Western Europe this summer.

American Drive Aimed At Capture Of Rabaul Bases

By CAPTAIN JOHN H. CRAIGE
(Written Especially for International News Service)

Even while Prime Minister Winston Churchill was predicting Allied offensive blows in the Mediterranean "and elsewhere," United States and Australian forces struck in the Pacific theatre of war in what is obviously the next strategic move in the campaign to bring the Japanese empire, swollen with ill-gotten gains, to its knees in unconditional surrender.

The pincers stroke launched by the forces of General Douglas MacArthur, commander-in-chief of Australian-American forces in the Southwest Pacific and Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr., commander of the combined navy-army-marine group of the South Pacific, can have but one logical aim, namely the destruction and capture of the powerful Japanese bases grouped about Rabaul the Mikado's key-fortress of the area.

This group constitutes the stopper in the bottleneck that bars United Nations penetration of the channel that runs between New Guinea's Papuan peninsula and the 1,000-mile island-chain of the Solomons

Route To Philippines

This channel, when opened to American-Australian forces, will offer a broad highway for Allied ships and troops moving to the subjugation of the northern coast of New Guinea, from which a perfect ladder of stepping-stone islands stretches to the enslaved Philippines, the Dutch East Indies, Singapore the vital Japanese communication lines and ultimately to Tokyo itself.

Movements thus far revealed in dispatches from General MacArthur's headquarters in Australia and navy department communiques detail an Australian-American thrust by MacArthur's forces in which the Tobriand and Woodlark islands, potentially valuable stepping stones, were captured without

State WPA Is Officially Ended

Expired On Wednesday — Spent Over Billion Dollars In State

CAREER LASTED FOR EIGHT YEARS

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 1.—The W. P. A. which spent more than a billion dollars in Pennsylvania during its eight years of work-relief to the needy was non-existant today.

Only six employes, including State Administrator Richard Irvin, were on hand for the agency's expiration yesterday a little short of seven months after President Roosevelt called for the organization's termination because "a national work relief program is no longer necessary".

A total of $1,131,782,950.48 was spent during the agency's history in the state from its inception in July 1935, through a high point in 1938 when it employed 290,342 workers to the beginning of 1943 when only 22,503 persons were on the payroll. Approximately 638,000 persons were on the W. P. A. rolls at different times.

Irvin said that there are about 19,000 persons, earning approximately $50 a month, who did not get other work because they were too old or partly handicapped.

All equipment has been disposed of to federal agencies including the public roads division, the army, navy and internal revenue department.

Irvin asserted that the W. P. A. did a "good job and was economically managed," adding: "I think there may be a need for some similar operation although not on such a large scale after the war."

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Oil Czar Harold L. Ickes today reported that prospects for more severe gasoline rationing in both the midwest and the Pacific coast are growing "more serious".

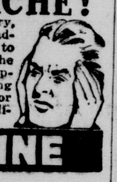

He said the possibility that further gas restrictions would be imposed in the midwest is now closer than ever before.

Gasoline stocks in the area east of the Mississippi river are continually falling off, Ickes revealed.

Visited only by prison guards and the chaplain, Stephan, now a broken man compared with the haughty ex-restaurant keeper who was arrested and convicted for helping Oberleutenant Hans Peter Krug escape from a Canadian prison camp, was confined to a dusky cell on the second floor of Federal prison here.

Set Up Scaffold

Sometime early tomorrow morning, Stephan will leave his cell and walk down the prison steps to a narrow passageway. He will be accompanied by the warden, prison guards and the chaplain.

The scaffold on which he will die will be set up at 5 p. m., an hour after other prisoners are locked up. It will be located outside the prison courtyard, but on federal property.

At 8 p. m. state police details will block off the roadway leading from the highway to the prison for a distance of one mile, admitting only authorized witnesses and members of the press.

Stephan's body, it was announced, will be claimed by a funeral director who has a contract to bury Federal prisoners. Burial will be in Potter's field at a cost of $25 to the government.

Meanwhile, Nicholas A. Salowich, chief defense attorney, bases his hopes on a last minute reprieve on a decision of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which reversed the treason conviction of six persons, three of whom faced the death penalty, in Chicago.

Two Axis aircraft were shot down in yesterday's operations while three other enemy planes were destroyed on Tuesday night, it was announced.

FIVE LANDINGS MADE BY YANKS OVER WIDE AREA

manded by Lieut. Gen. Walter Krueger, commander of the United States Sixth Army in the Southwest Pacific.

Under U. S. Command

The entire campaign is under American command with United States forces spearheading and carrying the weight of the assault.

Directed by American Gen. Douglas MacArthur, supreme commander in the Southwest Pacific, United States landing parties put ashore at Rendova Island and New Georgia Island in the Solomons group while other Allied units occupied Woodlark Island and the Trobiand Islands, east of the Papua territory of New Guinea, and effected a landing at Nassau Bay, 10 miles below the Jap base of Salamaua on the coast of northwest New Guinea.

Over 700 Miles Expanse

The combined landing operations were carried out over an expanse of 700 miles while the entire battle action, which included formidable air raids on Rabaul itself and west to the Dutch-Portuguese Island of Timor, extended over an arc of some 1,600 miles.

Forces of the South Pacific command under leadership of U. S. Admiral William F. Halsey coordinated their moves with the units of the Southwest Pacific command with the entire operations headed by Gen. MacArthur.

Admiral Halsey's offensive forces went ashore on Rendova and New Georgia Islands, approximately 200 miles northwest of American-held Guadalcanal. The landing on Rendova placed American forces on territory within five miles of the bomb-battered Jap airfield of Munday in the New Georgia group.

Some Heavy Resistance

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters indicated stern resistance by the Japs on Rendova and New Georgia in an official communique which said that after the Americans had "successfully landed" they were "engaging the enemy's defenses."

The Trobriands and Woodlark, approximately 400 and 300 miles respectively west of the New Georgia group, and themselves considered outposts of the Solomons, were taken without opposition and apparently without knowledge of the enemy, headquarters said.

In Contact With Japs

Allied forces which went ashore in the Nassau Bay area of New Guinea under the protection of an aerial umbrella now are in contact with Jap troops from the Salamaua garrison. The landing, preceded by concentrated bombing and strafing raids carried out by Medium bombers and attack planes, was effected shortly after midnight. The Allied planes softened up the Jap defenses by hitting hard at enemy positions on the bay shore and along the Bitoi river.

This thrust aimed at Salamaua appeared to have been joined by Allied units already based at Wau, 35 miles southwest of Salamaua. The Allies hold an airfield at Wau and patrols have been operating recently close to Salamaua. Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said that Allied Medium bombers in support of ground forces had heavily attacked Jap positions and supply installations near the Salamaua airdrome and at Bobdubi.

Shotgun Brigade Ready For Dogs

Can dogs read? No, but their owners can, and apparently having read that a police shotgun brigade was to be ordered into action today, they tied up their dogs. No complaints of dogs running loose last night were made to police. Should an owner value his dog, he will keep the canine tied securely because, according to Mayor Charles B. Mayne, dogs running loose will be shot on sight to save V-gardens.

is still in possession of the bulk of his strength, and most of the fruits of his early victories.

"It does mean however, that we now, and from now on, can pick the time and place where battle will be waged—and in military affairs that means a great deal."

Japs On Defensive

Touching briefly on latest developments in the Pacific, he said: "The Japanese are no longer in position to decide where the next blow will be struck.

"This morning's newspapers disclose on whose side the initiative lies. That decision now rests on our side. And it will continue to rest with us for the duration.

"We have never regarded the Pacific areas as of secondary importance.

"I can tell you that our forces in the Pacific, in all categories, are steadily being strengthened, and with very definite ends in view."

In the North Atlantic, he said, the United Nations are winning another great victory—against Hitler's vaunted submarines.

Sub Losses Decrease

"The enemy confidently expected, and we gravely feared that ship losses in the early months of summer would equal, if not exceed, those of any like period since the war began.

"The score in March seemed to justify Hitler's hopes and our fears. And then something happened . . . Ship losses suddenly decreased and decreased swiftly.

"June shows a score so good that it seems incredible. Incredible not only in the insignificant size of our losses—equally incredible in the mounting scale of submarines sunk."

Speaking over a nation-wide hookup, Secretary Knox asserted that "despite all our blunders and mistakess, we have wrought a miracle!"

"We have transformed our very inadequate peacetime merchant marine into the greatest wartime merchant fleet in all the world's history . . . And we are adding to that fleet by millions of tons."

north of the Papauan peninsula of New Guinea and guard the sea approaches to the line of the allied drive.

Attacks Made

The navy also announced that prior to the American invasion thrust in the Solomons, U. S. planes hit hard at Japanese bases at Vila and Munda in the central Solomons.

On the night of June 29-30, the navy said that torpedo and dive bombers attacked the airfield and camp areas at Vila, a short distance northwest of Rendova.

On June 30, a formation of Mitchell medium and Dauntless dive bombers, as well as torpedo planes, started a large fire in an attack on enemy defensive positions at Munda.

Capture of Viru harbor indicated that American strategy was to flank the Jap base at Munda and to drive along the southern shore of New Georgia toward the enemy air base.

Skipper of the ill-fated McCawley was Comdr. Robert Henry Rodgers of Staten Island, N. Y., who apparently survived since no loss of life was reported.

The 7,710-ton McCauley was formerly the Grace Line's S. S. Santa Barbara. She was acquired by the navy for $1,314,223 in 1940.

order after suffering heavy losses when the Russians met the challenge with intense machine-gun and rifle fire.

Heavy artillery shelling and local reconnaissances on various other sectors of the front also were reported.

German thrusts to feel out Russian defenses in the Leningrad area and also around Belgorod, north of Kharkov, were repelled with concentrated fire.

The high command announced that Soviet aircraft sank an enemy coast guard vessel in the Gulf of Finland.

It was announced also that the heavy Soviet air raid on the rail center of Pskov June 25 resulted in the killing of at least 1,000 Germans and considerable damage.

UNITED NATIONS OFFENSIVE ON JAPAN BEGINS

question of where and when the United Nations would strike in the Pacific with the forces they were known to be assembling.

The year began with forces under MacArthur sweeping the Japanese off the Papuan peninsula of New Guinea while American army troops under Halsey crushed the Japanese garrison on Guadalcanal

Busy Preparing

The Southwest Pacific war zone then settled down to months of aerial engagements in which the Japanese suffered heavy casualties in virtually every battle.

Meanwhile the navy was busy expanding and reinforcing land bases for concentrated air blows against the Japs in the South Pacific.

These included the occupation in February of the Russell Islands, 60 miles northwest of Guadalcanal and Funafuti in the Ellice Islands, within striking distance of the Japanese island of Tarawa.

Subsequently, army, navy and mrine airmen stepped up their offensive against the Japs in the Munday area and in the Northern Solomons. Several raids also were made against the enemy islands of Narau and Tarawa.

In May interest was diverted from the south and southwest Pacific temporarily while U. S. Army troops under navy command invaded and recaptured from the Japanese the island of Attu in the western Aleutians.

COUNCIL ORDERS BILLBOARDS REMOVED

All billboards located alog Croton avenue extension (site of the old furnace) are to be removed, according to council's action, fathered by Joe Alexander, director of grounds. He informed council they were a hazard, and council adopted a resolution ordering removal of the boards.

The past 24 hours have probably been the coldest for this time of the year that has been noted in a long time. Yesterday's high mark was 62 degrees, the average night temperature around July 1, and the lowest during the night was 43 degrees, just 11 degrees below the freezing mark. Aircraft spotters, doing their lonely vigil in the early hours this morning, either wore overcoats or had fires going in the stoves of their lookout stations.

Navy cadets from New Wilmington played an important part at a fire on the Youngstown road the other day. When a cottage burned down across the road from the airport, the cadets aided in fighting the fire and formed a bucket brigade to save a big barn on the same property.

ANGLO-AMERICAN OFFENSIVE PLANS BEING SPEEDED UP

islands and a possible move to establish a bridgehead in the Balkans is the most foreseen by the diplomats this summer. When the main Mediterranean operations start, it is thought that there may be strong raids on the Western European coast to confuse the Germans but no full-scale invasion attempt.

If the Allies can continue to overcome the submarine menace in the Atlantic, it is believed the tentative plans for a campaign to recapture Burma in the fall can be carried out.

Informed sources point out that a great deal of shipping will be needed for the Burma campaign. These sources believe the shipping can be made available for the Pacific if the Allies are able to maintain the present control achieved over the U-boat situation in the Atlantic.

AMERICAN DRIVE AIMED AT CAPTURE OF RABAUL BASES

resistance. Also the Allied bridgehead on Nassau bay was advanced to within almost cannon-shot of Salamaua, important Japanese base in New Guinea.

Near Jap Base

While this was going on, Admiral Halsey's amphibious forces were making a landing on Rendova island, 25-by-10-mile islet of the middle Solomons, important because it is within five miles of Munda, powerful Japanese base barring American progress northwestward. Details of what happened in the Rendova landing are lacking, but the assumption is that resistance was met.

If the Allied offensive is pressed with the vigor and power indicated in early dispatches, heavy action will quickly develop at two points, Salamaua on New Guinea and Munda of the Solomons.

New Guinea's Salamaua-Lae sector, is reputed to be a massive Japanese bastion constructed to prevent any further drive by American-Australian forces up New Guinea's north coast. The Rendova landing is a thrust into the heart of Japanese advance-base system. Logic indicates that the Mikado's forces will defend it as fanatically as they defended Guadalcanal.

NEW CASTLE CHAPTER 105 HOLDS "INDOOR PICNIC"

New Castle Chapter, No. 105, Order of the Eastern Star, held their annual picnic Wednesday evening in the West dining room of the Cathedral, with approximately 100 members and their families in attendance.

The assemblage was served at 6:30 o'clock at tables prettily decorated under the supervision of Mrs. Russell Melvin. Following, a short program was given.

Mrs. Idylline Wimer, worthy matron, extended greetings, and in turn, presented Mrs. Florence Campbell, chairman of the program. Readings were given by Mrs. Mildred Henderson and little Caroline Young, while an accordian solo was contributed by Elsie Joe Campbell. A variety of games and contests also interested the participants.

The success of the picnic is due the committees who co-operated, headed by Mrs. Florence Long, general chairman, her co-chairmen, Mrs. Anna Melvin, Mrs. Florence Campbell, Mrs. Edith Pearce, and their aides.

This brought to a close, all activities of New Castle chapter for the summer, regular meetings to be launched in September.

O. F. T. CLUB HAS REGULAR MEETING

Mrs. I. L. Eardley of Beckford street received members of the O.F.T. club Wednesday evening in her home.

Tables of 500 were in play, high score prizes falling to Mrs. Leonard Saylor, Mrs. George Tencer and Mrs. Kenneth Calderwood. The birthday of Mrs. Percy White was observed, and she received a gift.

A delicious lunch was served at an appropriate hour, the hostess being aided by her sister, Mrs. Edward Spiegler, of Pittsburgh, the special guest.

July 15 is the meeting with Mrs. George Tencer of Ray street.

SECTION ONE HAS DINNER AT CHURCH

There were about 30 persons in attendance at the dinner given in the First Christian church Wednesday evening by members of Section One. Families were guests.

After dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock, a social period was enjoyed. Hostesses were Mrs. Alan McCafferty and Mrs. Ralph Newingham.

In two weeks, Mrs. Ray Showalter, Warren avenue, will be hostess to the section.

FIRST METHODIST GROUP HAS PROGRAM

Members of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist church gathered at the church Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Mrs. Roy Miller in charge of devotions.

Mrs. Burr R. McKnight was in charge of the program, entitled, "Across the Nation With Rural Workers." Assisting in the program were members of the World Friendship Girls: Fern Cloak, Betty Robison, Catherine Hornung and Mary Shaddick.

Interesting motion pictures were shown by Clay Aubel later, entitled, "Children in the Streets."

A brief business meeting was held and following tea was served in the dining room. Pouring at the nicely arranged table was Mrs. M. R. Hornung.

Those on the committee included: Mrs. George Morris and Mrs. J. J. Dickerson.

ANOTHER SHOWER FOR MISS HARRIET PHIPPS

An informal dinner party was held Wednesday evening at a local tea room, when a group of girls gathered to honor Miss Harriet Phipps, bride-elect.

The honoree was presented with a lovely shower gift, at the close of the entertainment.

Informal pastimes were enjoyed, and a dainty repast was served.

TAYLOR - POWELL WEDDING WEDNESDAY

The marriage of Miss Maudie Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Taylor, 19 East Falls street, and Robert L. Powell, son of Mrs. Arthur Lutton, 909 North Mercer street, took place on Wednesday evening, in the home of the bridegroom's mother, at an impressive ceremony.

At 7:30 o'clock, the vows were exchanged in the presence of nearly a hundred guests, including relatives and friends from nearby and distant cities. The Rev. Mary Johnson, pastor of the Methodist church in Wurtemburg where the bridegroom attended Sunday school, officiated. She used the double ring service before an improvised altar of ferns, flowers and palms.

The bride was attired in a street length poudre' blue jersey dress, with peblum effect, and adorning her hair was a wreath of baby5s breath and white rosebuds. Her shoulder corsage was made up of the same flowers. Miss Mary Peters, a school chum of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a yellow crepe, street length, fashioned along princess lines. Her shoulder corsage of sweetpeas and rosebuds also matched her floral headdress.

Jack Wirtz served the bridegroom as best man.

Appropriate wedding music was provided for the occasion by Mrs. Donald Graham, pianist. She accompanied a quartette, Albert and Chauncey Boots, Donald Graham and Robert Ketterer. They sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me." A recording of the wedding was made, which will be sent to the bridegroom's brother, Emerson Powell, who is serving in the U. S. Armed Forces in North Africa.

A reception and wedding lunch was served buffet style, followed the congratulatory period.

Mrs. Lulu Koch, grandmother of the bridegroom, Wurtemburg, was also present.

The couple left on a short wedding trip, and upon returning, will establish residence in Elplwood City, where he is employed in the laboratory of the Shelby Tube Co.

Picnic Gathering

Mrs. George Jackson entertained at a family gathering at her home on Round street Wednesday, the occasion taking the form of a picnic.

SOLDIERS SPOTLIGHT DANCER IN THE DARK

(International News Service)

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Since the rubber shortage, kids have been deprived of the fun of bursting balloons of the type used by bubble dancers. In fact, bubble dancing appears on the way out.

But soldiers from Vultee airport found a new angle when a carnival came to Nashville with a girl doing a "flashlight" dance in the dark. After several nights of yelling "lights", they found the answer. In the middle of the dance a brilliant Army flashlight cut the darkness from the audience, clearly illuminating the performer.

We still wait for some educated person to give us the meaning of the expression, "make no bones about it."

The Story Of Famous Diamonds
. . . diamonds that have shared in the course of world events.
THE SANCY
The smallest, yet one of the most interesting of the famous Oriental diamonds, is the Sancy. When Henry IV ascended the throne he accepted this diamond as security for a loan. The messenger never arrived with it, however, for he was killed by robbers. Thinking of what steps the messenger could have taken to guard the stone, his body was dug up and the stomach opened. The famous Sancy had been swallowed by the faithful messenger. Today, some say that this diamond is the property of the Maharrajah of Patiala; others, that it belongs to Lady Astor.

QUIET! LOOSE TALK HELPS HITLER

EMPHASIZED anew by the case of the two German spies arrested on Staten Island is the extensive nature of the Nazi espionage system and, above all, the ever-present danger of helping the enemy, by a few careless words, to gather vital war information.

The agent Lehmitz is a product of the Gestapo spy school. Outside of getting caught, he proved an apt pupil. His spy work was a model of detail and camouflage, points out the Philadelphia Inquirer in the following:

His home was situated so as to command a view of New York harbor, its ship loading and ship movements. He rented rooms to Army and Merchant Marine officers and men, carefully dissecting their conversation for wanted tid-bits of news. Not content with that, he took a menial job in a waterfront restaurant where he was in contact with seamen, soldiers, Coast Guardsmen and workers in nearby shipyards. He rounded off each day by visits to a half-dozen taverns frequented by defense workers and members of the armed forces. As a cover-up for his operations, he was a zealous air-raid warden and Victory gardener.

The other arrested agent, De Spretter, has acted as consulting engineer to a number of defense plants and he was able to convey to Lehmitz special information on technical subjects that would be helpful to the Germans.

Fortunately the alertness of the FBI and the sharp-nosed British censors in Bermuda have broken up the portion of the spy ring represented by these two men. But such setbacks will not stop the enemy from trying to gather all the information possible on ship and troop movements, on the building and movement of planes, on defense installations and other matters of military importance.

We can deliver a powerful blow at German espionage plans by guarding our tongues at all times and refraining from casual conversation that might interest unsuspected enemies. Those from whom Lehmitz assembled information wanted by Hitler would probably deny indignantly that they ever yielded military secrets. But it is from one careless word here and another whispered hint there that the spy weaves his reports. He doesn't need complete diagrams to tell him what he wants to know.

There is only one safe rule for those who possess important information to observe: Keep your mouth shut—the enemy is listening!

"COINS" VERSUS COUPONS

Possibility that coin-shaped tokens of some plastic material may take the place of food ration coupons should be welcomed alike by housewives, food merchants and the banks through which the stamps ultimately clear. That is, if food rationing is to be continued ad infinitum. Coffee supplies are now back to normal, it has been announced, but there is nary a suggestion from on high that perhaps it would be a good idea to permit people to purchase coffee in the American way.

Under the "coin" system, for a single ration stamp representing all her food supplies for a month the housewife, with her first purchase, would receive "change" in these tokens, good anywhere, which, presumably, she would put in a purse. She would carry this token "money" with her whenever she went shopping for rationed goods, except on the occasions when she forgot to drag it with her. The saving of time, and sometimes tempers, both to customers and to tired cashiers would be great, it is alleged.

Plastic tokens, as substitutes for tiny food stamps, would be easier to handle originally, and later, because different denominations would be plainly marked in colors, to sort out. It is even averred that a great deal of clerical work by the banks could be obviated by adjustments that would make it possible to put these tokens through coin-counting machines.

STATES GIRD FOR BATTLE

Without regard to party lines, the governors conferring at Columbus decided to wage an organized fight for restoration of state's rights. Refusing to stop at mere oratorical protest, they set up some actual machinery, including the establishment and maintenance of a Washington lobby to work unceasingly for amendment or abrogation of laws which have tended to weaken state authority by turning increased power over to federal bureaucracies.

There will be nothing but praise in true liberal circles for the objective of the governors. Under the American system, the states are regarded as integral units of governmental control. The fact that, in recent years, they have lost many of their heretofore established rights certainly justifies a vigorous effort along lines of restoration.

During the 1929-39 depression, the states were disposed to accept federal largess. They went to Washington, hat in hand, and willingly took whatever was offered them, blissfully unaware, apparently, that such acceptance was creating a modern version of the old adage that the man who pays the fiddler calls the tune.

Much of the federalism against which the governors are now protesting was derived, that is to say, from the state's own docile acquisition of economic aid from the federal government. Which is all the more reason for an early return to the traditional moorings of home rule and local sovereignity in those fields not clearly and explicitly under federal jurisdiction. The governors are getting an early start toward making an important contribution to governmental trends in the postwar period.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

IMPROVE CHILD'S READING

From the first grade through college, most school failures are reading failures. Most of the book learning of the first two grades consists of reading. Beyond the fourth grade, content subjects like history, geography and science are chiefly reading subjects. Even success in arithmetic and higher mathematics presuppose skillful reading.

To help a child or youth improve in school learning is, as a rule, to help him read better. Youths therefore, who wish to prepare themselves this summer to do better school work next winter, will try to improve their reading skill.

Excepting the very few children who cannot read at all, or have poor vision, there really are no poor readers. What we call poor readers are just poor readers for the kind of materials they are supposed to read. The poor reader in college or high school may be a very good reader from a book no harder than a standard reader for the fourth or fifth grade.

The poor reader in the fourth or fifth grade may read very well from a primer or first reader. For him to make best gains in reading skills have him practice on reading matter no harder than he can read with ease and understanding. When any person must stumble over one or several words in every sentence he is reading something too difficult for him. He must get the satisfaction from success to learn best. He should also feel that what he is reading is worthy of his effort.

It is not easy to find good materials for the older child and youth to fit these two requirements. The average reading book easy enough in vocabulary for the first grade child is too infantile in content to appeal to the poor reader of the fifth grade, and the book easy enough for the average fifth grade child rarely has much grown-up appeal.

When, however, a poor reader in the upper grade, high school or college will read to a child under six to entertain this child, the older person reading feels unashamed to read from easy materials, and has about the best possible exercise for improving his own reading skill.

I have written two special bulletins, "Home Helps For Poor Readers," Part I, for the child under ten or twelve; Part II, for older children and adults. Each may be had without cost by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a three-cent stamp on a self-addressed envelope. Several thousand parents already have written for these.

In the home, a skillful parent should be able to induce a poor reader, however old he be, to practice reading silently and aloud from books or magazines easy enough to be enjoyed by him. There the poor reader can save his face and avoid shame I wish parents would keep these simple facts and principles in mind if divided, some, deploring the fact they have a son or daughter who is a poor reader.

The World and the Mud Puddles

A CONNECTICUT YANKEE

I have a friend who lives in Haddam, Connecticut. He has a beautiful colonial home set in a five-acre tract of attractive grounds on the bank of the Connecticut river. It is a place

"Where every prospect pleases,
And only man is vile."

With gasoline rationing at a gallon and one-half a week, and snoopers worrying about as to whether he is driving his automobile on business or pleasure, time hangs rather heavily on his hands and he writes:

"It appears to me that the only way to hold onto one's few friends at this stage, is to write once in a while, even though the weather and one's ailments are the sole topics mentioned. This effort is along those lines and under those limitations. For what is new? Certainly not the item that so many tons of bombs were dropped during the night; what can one do with bombs but drop um; if they happen to be duds so are the news values of what we read about them. And the 'Second Front,' why, I'm thinking of having a second front put on my shirts to save laundry bills, but who gets excited about that? Mrs. Roosevelt spent a few hours in the White House last week, but who cares about that? Ho' Hum'."

My friend lives about ten miles from the nearest market, and he continues:

"No gas to get to market and if you walk, they have no food to sell, or if they have, it takes many coupons and you left the damn book

America is a place where most folks think a man is ordinary if he has done nothing except get rich. We weigh a man's accomplishments not on what he has done for himself alone but on what he has done for others.

And there was a man whose kin did not like him. One time he ran for a minor office. He had 11 relatives, and all of them voted against him. This is a fact, because he received all of the other votes in his precinct. That man was popular, yet his own kin did not like him.

NOT SWEET-SMELLING NAME

A man named Tinker was blessed with a son. He named him Biggs. When the lad was about 12 years old he was playing with some of his kid friends and threw a ball which escaped the boy to whom it was thrown and went through a neighbor's window. The owner of the house in which the window was broken came rushing out and demanded to know "who threw that ball?" One of the kids spoke up and said "That Biggs Tinker done it."

Then there was the dairyman arrested for putting water into milk . . . He protested, "It was perfectly pure, distilled water. And anyway I didn't put any water into the milk. I just poured the milk into the water."

"She said, 'Come out from under that bed, you coward'."

Good Taste

IT DOESN'T PAY TO BE TOO FRANK

Do you think it pays to be a sneak—to pretend to agree with people when you really do not; to treat the boss and his executive staff as if they are always right? I am the frank type and have been told that I miss opportunities, especially in business because I too freely express my feelings and don't "pull my punches." I personally like honest people who express their frank opinions and dislike people who yes me merely to please me."—Anna May.

Answer: Diplomacy is one of the prerequisites of both professional and social life. And evidently you lack diplomacy. No one likes a namby pamby "yesser" but then who can tolerate a pugnacious, antagonistic office worker? Women especially, have a reputation for being excitable and hysterical during crises. So park your temper and emotions at home before you start out for office. No employer will put up with a "fighter." If you are justified in expressing a diverse opinion, do so with a smile and with calmness and dignity. Do it as infrequently as possible. You do not have to be a "sneak' to get along with the boss; but you must have respect and consideration for his feelings and opinions as well as those of your co-workers, else they will not be your co-workers for long.

Question: How many bridesmaids and ushers are usually used in a wedding? When should the announcements be sent?—Faith.

Answer: There are usually from two to six bridesmaids and an equal number of ushers, depending upon the formality of the wedding. You need have none of either, if you wish none—merely a maid or matron-of-honor and a best man. Announcements should be sent on the wedding day, after the ceremony has been performed.

WORDS

Words mean a lot to folks
when they are lonely.
Words mean a lot to folks
when they're blue;
A nod of cheer, a smile—
a word of greeting
Has gladdened many hearts that sorrow knew.

Words mean a lot when people lose their temper
Although folks never mean half they say;
Yet, someone's always sadder
when they've spoke
The price they cost is sometimes hard to pay.

Words mean a lot to folks
when they're in trouble
Ah, that's the time that kind words should be said
Words mean a lot to every person living—
But words don't mean a thing when folks are dead.

"Is he?" Poor fellow!" Will you see in which half he has the key to my valise?"

Loose talk has always been dangerous but it is more terrible in time of war.

FANCY SUCH A MEETING

Two men were discussing things in a tavern.

"So you say you met your wife at a dance?" asked one. "That must have been exceptionally romantic."

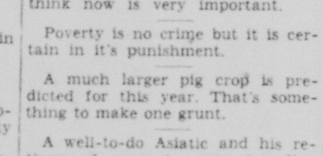

"Romantic nothing," snorted the other. "It was mighty embarrassing. "I thought she was at home taking care of the kids."

Perhaps we know far less about it than some theologians we have met, but our hunch is that St. Peter judges a man by what he has done—not by the size of his tombstone.

We should give any man a fair hearing, provided he first tell us what axe he has to grind.

Wallace Would Re-Educate German Nazis
Democrats Would Try To Convert Enemies
Voluntary Reform Is Held Impossibility

By CHARLES P. STEWART
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, July 1—After the war the Germans are to have a new system of education wished onto them by the democracies, if Vice President Henry A. Wallace has his way. Others have made a similar suggestion hitherto and I had occasion recently to wonder, in print, whether or not such an experiment could be made to "take". Henry undertakes to prove the affirmative. He doesn't exactly prove it, but he does make the assertion.

It isn't precisely his plan to look incipient Nazis up and COMPEL them to assimilate what he wants them to learn.

He aims rather at CONVERTING them to world respectability.

He recognizes that not even a start can be made on this program which the conflict continues to rage. However, he is hopeful that the Teutons themselves, once utterly licked, will see the merits of the proposition, from their own standpoint, and "fall for it" semi-voluntarily.

The re-educators date their calculations back to the early days following the last war.

They recognize that, in that era, an old-time Prussian, while acknowledging that he was hopelessly socked, was not in the least reformed. Yet, if the rising generation of the latter 19-teens had been promptly and resolutely but kindly taken in hand, the re-educationalists reason that the current tribe of their then-babies would be just as nice as the rest of us now.

So let's start the reformatory process as early as possible, urge Henry Wallace and his followers and maybe, another generation ahead, none of us will want another war.

Countries, quite generally do not like them. They do like an occasional "grab," but not at the probable expense of a doubtful ultimate struggle.

Idealists, like Henry, do not sense the prospect of troubles a-coming. Anyway, they do not deem them inevitable. They think that, maybe, they can be headed off by re-education. That is, they believe that re-education of the OTHER folk is essential—not re-education of US.

O. K.! Say that re-education of the Germans is a practicability.

The Italians do not have to be re-educated.

Except officially, they are lined up with us already.

One Man's Opinion

Well there ought to be a sign over the door of the White House reading "through these portals pass the most administrators in the world."

When you get three food administrators in three months and still no food plan you begin to wonder if the administrators are living out of overnight bags.

From what we can pick out of Chester Davis' letter he had his name on the door, his hat on the rack and his feet under the desk.

But the policies came out of the mouth of someone else . . . and don't look now but guess who?

Davis was no synthetic agriculturist either. He was editing a big farm paper as far back as 1917. Then he was Montana's commissioner of agriculture, director of grain marketing for the State agricultural association, and executive vice president of two corn processing firms.

You will hear people tell you that what's needed in Washington is teamwork.

Great Game Of Politics

Votes And The Veto

WASHINGTON, July 1. THE REVOLT of Congress against the President, climaxing in the extraordinary overriding of his anti-strike bill veto, projects two pertinent and important questions. First, what will be the effect upon Mr. Roosevelt politically? Second, what will be the effect upon Mr. Roosevelt personally?

AS TO THE political aspect, one thing is certainly clear—his veto was not in accord with popular sentiment and the Congressional overriding vote was in accord with it. The veto has been vociferously applauded by the labor lobbyists with whom he is allied, by the Communist party organ, the Daily Worker, which is supporting him, and by the extreme Left Wingers, political and journalistic. But, Mr. Roosevelt already was the hero of these groups. They are the ones who are demanding a fourth term for him and who had urged him not to sign the bill.

COMBINED WITH the vast army of Federal jobholders these constitute his basic political assets and commendation was expected from them. It would have been wholly unnatural if they had not been pleased when the President did what they had asked him to do. The significant thing, however, is that commendation has come from no other source and his most partial friends do not claim that his veto won him support from any who were not already supporting him. Neither friend nor foe contends that his action strengthened him politically or gained him votes not already his.

ON THE OTHER side some convincing arguments are made that the opposition to Mr. Roosevelt has been intensified and that he has lost support in certain quarters upon which he had been counting. Among these are the soldiers and sailors of the armed forces here and abroad. That there existed in their ranks deep resentment toward union laborers who strike during a

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

A doctor I know had done a fellow doctor a favor.

So he received a very nice typewritten letter of acknowledgment from his colleague which ended as follows:

"Again let me thank you for your kindness, and with warmest personal regards, I am. Cordially yours, etc. etc."

The signature was apparently in a woman's hand and under it was a very small letter "G", apparently the secretary's initial.

In the lower left-hand corner of this cordial and very personal letter were typed the words: "Dictated but not read".

The doctor showed me the letter with a somewhat wry smile.

"What do you make of that?" he asked. "Am I right in feeling as if that guy had slapped me in the face?"

"Of course you are, Doctor," I said. "Dictated but not read is as much of an insult as if the fellow had said right out that you weren't worth the extra thirty seconds it would have taken to read and sign the letter."

"Well", said the doctor, "I'll never do that man another favor!"

Probably that doctor who sent the letter was a busy man. Probably he didn't mean to be rude.

But here is another case where such a little thing can do much harm.

Somehow human nature seems to be more susceptible to little hurts, to little kindnesses, to little joys and little sorrows than to the big ones.

I don't know why—unless it is that most of us came from little beginnings and that bigness or greatness consists of many little qualities gradually put together.

For instance, I know a very successful man who has to go to many elaborate luncheons and banquets.

No matter how sumptuous the affair, when he's all through, he sneaks off to a lunch counter or diner and orders some cookies and a glass of milk.

"Reminds me of my kid days", he says. "Mother always used to give me cookies and milk when I had done something to please her. I drank the milk to please mother, I ate the cookies because I liked them!

Read your own letters and sign them yourself. Be considerate in little things.

Most everybody likes a few cookies.

War Limits Fabrics But Not Imagination Of Native Designers

Original Silhouette Developed By American Fashion Creators For First Time

(EDITOR'S NOTE: American designers, for the beginning of the fall season, are styling their clothes without any foreign fashion dictates. This article, third in a series, discusses their progress. INS.)

By JANE COCHRAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, July 1.—Paris bowed out as a power in the fashion world in the Spring of 1939, but American designers are presenting their countrywomen with a truly original silhouette for the first time this Fall.

Dresses are slim of skirt, fitted at the waist and wide at the shoulder. The impression of lavishness and elegance is present, through the use of rich, yet restrained trimmings. Suits are slim and straight, short-jacketed and tight at the waist. Materials, wartime fabrics all, make no apologies. Rayons and other synthetic fabrics are well made and as attractively used as the luxurious fabrics of pre-war days.

Wool—especially the practical woolen jersey—is a favorite material for daytime dresses and suits, cocktail and short dinner dressed. Velveteen and velvet (rayon, of course!) and smooth rayon crepes are next most popular materials.

American originality is best personified in the short dinner dress developed for a nation that has put its car in the garage and now rides the subway or bus to dinner or an evening out. The dress, introduced a few seasons ago, will reach its popularity height this fall.

Evening dresses of the long type are definitely out. Only a few of the better wholesale houses, presenting their fall style previews are showing long dresses and these only in dinner dress style.

Designers have taken fabric conservation orders, made them the basis for the silhouette, and proved that imagination need not be limited by rules or priorities.

There is good in everything, and import or excise taxes have provided a nice living for smugglers since history began.

war in defense plants and basic industries had been made apparent in many ways. It is reasonable to believe that his veto of a bill designed to make strikes illegal and aimed directly at John L. Lewis has disappointed many men in uniform who have been favorable to the President and upon whose votes the fourth termers count.

HOW MANY of these have become disaffected there is no means of knowing, but certainly there are some. Also, it is reasonable to believe that, to some extent, there has been an unfavorable reaction among the fathers, mothers, wives and relatives of men in the service, some of whom have been Roosevelt supporters. A third group which the veto has exasperated are the Southern Democrats. Anti-union-labor sentiment in the South is stronger than in any other section. Both of the authors of the bill are Southerners—Senator Connally coming from Texas and Representative Smith from Virginia. Unquestionably, the discontent in the South has been increased by the veto—the chances of a possible break in its Democratic solidity enhanced.

FINALLY, it is true that the President's effort to kill the bill has given force to the charge of men like Senator Byrd, that it was the act of a candidate for reelection fearful of losing the labor vote. And it has increased the number of citizens who think that Mr. Roosevelt is afraid of the labor lobbyists, that he has coddled them in a sickening way, that he is unable to bring himself to the point of breaking with them, even when the national interests demand it. TO SUM UP, no one claims that the Roosevelt veto has gained him a single vote. Many claim that he has lost ground. At the moment no one can tell how much, but it does seem clear that he has sustained some political damage, presented to the opposition an additional argument against his reelection. That much is admitted within Administration circles. The personal effect upon the President of the unprecedented rebuff given him by Congress will be discussed in another column.

Reluctant Romeo Finds Wooing By Court Order Hard

Chicago Couple Tries Experiment In Reconcilation, By Judge's Decree

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 1.—"Tired of having people point their finger at me," a reluctant Romeo Wednesday allowed as how a 30-day experiment in love-making by court order would be "a lot tougher" than the original wooing, which drew a "yes" 27 years ago.

Principles in the experiment are John Gunderson, 51, of Chicago, and his estranged wife, Mrs. Birghild Gunderson, 42.

Judge Joseph Sabath ordered John to 30 days of courtship after Mrs. Gunderson tossed in the matrimonial towel. Her divorce petition charged drunkenness and cruelty.

Gunderson muttered something about reconciliation, so Judge Sabath decreed the experiment. He ordered the man to move from the family home and leave his wife and daughter, Gladys, in possession.

But he was told he must turn on the charm and go gunning for a return of romance on Tuesdays, Fridays and Sundays over a 30-day period.

Last night marked the crucial beginning. A few curious were on hand as Gunderson sauntered up to the modest brick bungalow. Flowers and candy suggested by Mrs. Gunderson's attorney were missing. But, a-wooing as he was ordered, Gunderson gave out with a Sunday grin, even though it was only Tuesday. The object of the wooing greeted him in a brown and white house dress. The situation appeared somewhat strained, however.

So Gunderson started to dig—in the garden. His daughter, Gladys, a radiant brunet of 20, who was "deputized" by Judge Sabath to supervise the courtship, eyed him from a window.

Mrs. Gunderson expressed skepticism of her spouse-swain who, she said, had "made promises too often."

"You're not so nice to come home to," sang the Romeo-by-court-order, paraphrasing the hit song as, his first mission completed, he went on his way.

Parking Meters Legal In State; Court Decision

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 1.—In an unanimous opinion, the State Supreme Court on Wednesday upheld the legality of the use of parking meters in Pennsylvania cities and towns.

The case, the first involving parking meters to reach the high tribunal, came to the appellate justices on four appeals taken by property owners in the city of Easton against a decree handed down by the Northampton county court.

Justice William M. Parker, author of the Supreme Court's ruling, stated "we agree with the conclusion" reached by the lower court, which held the city of Easton was within its constitutional rights in using parking meters.

at home anyway. If you really must get out of your yard, why 'take the bus' but the bus has just been taken off; next one three hours later and there is no one coming back at all. Ho' Hum'.

"Still and all, one develops a sense of humor, mostly bad humor, but bad is better than none—or is it? I never expected to see the day that potatoes were a luxury in this neck of the woods but try and buy one. As to that, I still have plenty that I raised last year and the shad still run in the river so wot t'ell, we still eat now and then and can look at one of the most beautiful bits of country anywhere, so we have much to be thankful for after all the growling.

"Wife and I both pretty well. If she could make up her mind to let the dust rest on a picture frame for a minute or two, she will be all right. Who was it said the way to be sure of a long life was to have a fatal malady and take care of it."

"What we will do next winter is a problem. I am looking for a job—or say I am. It is possible I am afraid I will find it, but as a matter of fact, the various unpaid jobs I now have use up as much energy, time, money and so on, as a steam fitter uses and bring nothing into the deflated exchequer which requires some thought at times. Here endeth this effort—no runs, no hits, no gate."

Hints On Etiquette

Don't be rude and snub the girl in whom your son is interested If you go on and hurt her feelings you may be sure your son will stand by her, and maybe what might have been a slight flirtation or passing interest, will become serious.

Some people are so self-conscious and conceited they can't even pray without thinking how well they are doing it.

Two Greek Villages Burned By Italians

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 1.—Italian occupation troops have burned the Greek villages of Mouzaki and Mavromati following a series of riots in Athens and Salonika in which hundreds were arrested and many wounded, information in Greek circles said Wednesday night.

Eight villagers were shot and 170 women and children carried off Greek Guerillas later staged a reprisal raid and inflicted heavy casualties on Italian troops.

Tension was reported increasing throughout the Balkans. Evacuation of all non-essential personnel from Bucharest was reported because of fears of an early Allied attack.

Broadcasts from Ankara described the Greek riots as serious, saying they occurred in virtually all important towns.

A Stockholm dispatch to Reuter meanwhile said that Rome was becoming more fearful of Allied invasion as the result of "continuous arrival of many generals and politicians at Allied Mediterranean bases."

Touring Senators Will Inspect, Not Investigate, War

Deny Air Tour Of War Theatres A "Junket"; Will Not Interfere With Military

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Five United States Senators, selected to make a globe-circling air tour of theaters of war, today promised to make a rigid inspection—but not an investigation—of condition under which American boys are fighting.

Emphatically denying that the trip is a "junket," the senators all promised to look into the health, housing and food conditions of the troops, without interfering with the military or seeking to outline strategy.

Named as chairman of the group was Sen. Richard B. Russell (D), Ga., to be accompanied by Sens. A. B. "Happy" Chandler (D), Ky., Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. (R), Mass., Ralph O. Brewster (R), Maine, and James M. Mead (D), N. Y.

Sen. Bennett Clark (D), Mo., protesting before the names were announced on the Senate floor, declared that the five-man committee "won't see enough to stick in their eye," and that "no public purpose is to be served by such a junket."

Clark said as an officer in World War I he was detailed to pilot a House Naval Affairs committee in France and was told "not to let them get near enough the front to get hurt."

"We hope to secure information first hand in the field which will be helpful to Congress in future legislation," Russell declared, adding that he "wanted it made clear" that the senators would in no way interfere with military strategy.

Mexican Divorce Decree Is Granted Mrs. Harry James

(International News Service)

EL PASO, Tex., July 1—The final barrier to the wedding plans of orchestra leader Harry James and film actress Betty Grable was removed today following the Mexican divorce granted Mrs. James.

Seven hours after Mrs. James filed her petition charging incompatibility, she was given the mutual consent decree by Judge Havier Rosas Caballos in Juarez civil court, across the Rio Grande from El Paso.

Mrs. James said she and the musician had been separated more than a year and that his absences from home to fill orchestra engagements were a factor in the decision to part, "but we're parting friends in the Hollywood manner," she said.

Miss Grable announced earlier this week she and James planned to marry next Monday.

CITY HALL OFFICES TO CLOSE MONDAY

City Hall offices will close Monday, July 5, when city employes, like many others, will celebrate the Fourth of July. However, pursuant to state law, City Council will be required to hold a meeting as usual. It is likely no more than a roll call will be taken, following which the body will adjourn.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. Irvin L. Clark, of Washington, D. C., formerly of this city, is visiting with relatives here.

Miss Florence Henderson of 131 East Lincoln avenue has arrived her after spending the winter in Philadelphia.

Mrs. J. F. Ray, Linesville, has returned home after spending the past week with her sister, Mrs. C. E. Hutton, Spruce street.

Mrs. Don R. Fusco of the Penn apartments nas just returned home after visiting her husband, Cpl. Don R. Fusco, who is stationed at Camp Lee, Va.

Mrs. Fred S. Emery of 469 East Washington street, has returned from a two weeks visit with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Munroe and the latter's mother, Mrs. Mary Virginia Patterson, of Dayton, O., formerly of this city.

Mrs. Margaret Duff, who has been spending several weeks at the home of her father, W. J. Duff, near Pulaski, has returned to Middletown, where she is engaged in parish work for the Orthodox Presbyterian church.

Corp. and Mrs. George H. Getty have arrived here from Camp Forrest, Tenn., where the former is stationed, to visit with his mother, Mrs. Carrie D. Getty, North Mercer street, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Gibson, Madison avenue.

Miss Frances D. Aiken, R. N., of the Presbyterian hospital staff of nurses in New York City, has accepted a position as a supervisor of nurses at that hospital. Miss Aiken is the daughter of Mrs. R. K. Aiken of 321 East street, this city.

The one day conference of the Allegheny District of the Ohio Conference was held at St. Luke A. M. E. Zion church Tuesday. Rev. T. J. Tipp, newly appointed presiding elder of the district, was in charge. Matters of importance to the church, as affected by the war, were discussed. Emphasis was placed on the missionary work of the district.

Ladies representing missionary groups were Mrs. Sarah Cgletree, district president of Sewickley, Mrs. H. A. Trotter, district president of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Harris, district president of Youngstown, and Mrs. Lavigne, district president of Sharon.

Annual membership meeting of St. Luke A. M. E. Zion church will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. Officers will be elected for the coming year. Lay delegates to the annual conference will give their reports.

Valley Temple No. 167 will meet on Thursday, July 8, in the Elks home, Home street, instead of July 9.

Donald M. Nelson Asks Two Million Ton Steel Increase

WPB Chief Makes No Reference To Coal Strike In Pittsburgh Address

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 1.—War Production Board Chief Donald M. Nelson today called upon the workers of Pittsburgh's vast "big steel" empire to produce an additional 2,000,000 tons of ingot steel in the next six months "over and above" the 1943 quota, but failed to make a single reference to the paralyzing coal strike.

The WPB chairman, addressing the employes of Carnegie-Illinois' Homestead works—the first stop in his two-day inspection tour of steel mills in "Victor Valley"—declared: "What you workers accimplish by working just a little bit harder means that victory over the enemy is just that much closer.

"The men at the front are fighting for us and we've got to give them everything they need. Right now they need 2,000,000 tons of steel over and above our original quota this year. Produce it for them."

Nelson, accompanied by Charles E. Wilson, vice-chairman of the War Production Board, and Hiland G. Batchelor, head of the board's steel division, arrived here from Washington early today to launch the nation's "steel for victory" drive.

He came at a time when the steel picture is "considerably improved", but still far from normal as a result of the week and a half-old strike in the western Pennsylvania soft coal fields.

LEWISTOWN MAN IS NAMED NEW CHIEF AIR RAID OFFICER

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 1.—The election of James A. Kepler of Lewistown as chief air raid officer for Pennsylvania, succeeding Col. Lynn G. Adams, now chief of protective services, was announced today by the state defense council.

Kepler will serve also as regional representative of the south-central Pennsylvania district succeeding Richard A. Mehring, of York. Harry A. Buch, of Harrisburg, was named transportation officer succeeding Frank A. Shimer, of Harrisburg, who resigned. L. D. Matter, district sanitary engineer for the health department, was elected deputy water supply coordinator.

WINDOW IS ROBBED

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 1.—Rings, watches and bracelets valued at more than $1000 were snatched from a Harrisburg jewelry store window early today by a burglar after he had smashed the glass with a brick. Police launched a search for the robber after they had been furnished a sketchy description.

Hold Soldier From Shenango On Check Forgery Charges

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 1.—Sergeant Dayné Goddard, 21, attached to the Camp Shenango Army Replacement Center, today was held for court on forgery charges after admitting he endorsed his commanding officer's name to a string of bogus checks which he used to make purchases in Pittsburgh department stores.

The youth, a native of Princeton, Mo., told Magistrate John J. O'Keefe at a hearing that he forged the name of Captain Carl Wallin on the checks and then cashed them at downtown stores.

Detectives testified Goddard passed five $25 checks before being caught and had on his person four other checks, forged and ready for use, when arrested yesterday.

Allied Invasion Less Imminent To Those In England

Americans There Can Realize Time Needed To Prepare For Operations

AMPHIBIOUS LANDINGS ARE GREATLY LIMITED

(Editor's Note: Americans in the British Isles do not share the belief of their countrymen in the United States that a large-scale Allied assault on Europe from England is imminent, Richard Tregaskis, noted International News Service War correspondent writes in the following dispatch.)

By RICHARD TREGASKIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, July 1.—There is the possibility that the people in the United States are too confident and too impatient regarding the opening of a second front in northern Europe in the immediate future.

In the United States many of our people expect an amphibious landing in northern Europe at any moment. Looking at Europe from America one is confident American troops in the British Isles are here in overpowering numbers and well trained. A great expedition in France, the low countries or Norway appears imminent.

Americans I have seen in the British Isles do not share this optimism.

Huge Preparations Needed

It should be borne in mind that many ponderous preparations must be made before a landing party can be attempted. Huge quantities of supplies and shipping must be massed and the participating troops must have thorough training in amphibious or airborne operations.

Training troops in such operations is a matter of months rather than weeks. Not just companies or battalions, but whole regiments and divisions mut rehearse the complicated procedure of landing small boats before it can be attempted against strongly fortified positions.

Before the landing of the Marines on Guadalcanal all participating troops rehearsed the complete operations, including even preliminary bombing and naval bombardment. Before that the troops had practiced for months in the United States.

Limitations Involved

Fundamental facts often are overlooked by the prophets. It is obvious to anyone who has taken in an amphibious landing—not so obvious to others—that the striking range of a sea or airborne army is limited to the range of its fighter planes.

Even in their most spectacular conquests, those employing paratroops in the Netherlands and Crete, the fast-moving Germans were tied by this restriction.

In the Pacific our last island-to-island step from Guadalcanal to the Russels was only 40 miles.

A fighter cover is essential to an amphibious or airborne operation because without this cover assault troops are at the mercy of enemy bombers.

Range Limit, 150 Miles

The limitation of range of such operations comes from the fact that under actual field conditions the range of the average fighter plane has been proved to be about 150 miles at the maximum. This 150-mile attack radius can be extended from two centers:

1.—From any one or more land bases, and

2.—From aircraft carriers.

Assuming, then, that the assault must come within a 150-mile radius with one or more land bases, then one may pick out several places where such a landing may occur. These include areas north of France, the low countries and south to Sicily and Sardinia. Crete is just beyond.

Telephonists Are Needed For Duty At Local OCD Center

All Morning And Late Afternoon Volunteers Especially Wanted At This Time

More volunteer telephonists for the Civilian Defense Control Center are needed for eleven of the weekly shifts, according to Mrs. Elsi M. Walls, supervisor of telephonists for the Office of Civilian Defense Volunteers are needed due to the necessity to keep the control center manned 24 hours a day in case an actual raid as well as for surprise blackouts and air raid warning tests.

There are 47 different watches during a week, most of them on a 4-hour schedule, all volunteer groups, nearly all of whom have been serving faithfully since the O. C. D. was organied here.

At present the number of official communication corps people on duty at one time varies from sometimes only one person to as many as eight and those in charge of this phase of the civilian defense organization have issued a call for more volunteer telephonists in order to increase the personnel of the following shifts:

Monday: 8 a. m. to 12 noon; 4 p. m. to 6 p. m.

Tuesday: 12 noon to 4 p. m.; 4 p. m. to 6 p. m.

Wednesday: 8 a. m. to 12 noon.

Thursday: 8 a. m. to 12 noon; 4 p. m. to 6 p. m.

Friday: 8 a. m. to 12 noon; 4 p. m. to 6 p. m.; 6 p. m. to 8 p. m.

Saturday: 8 p. m. to 12 midnight.

If you can give four hours on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, or Friday morning every week, or two hours in the late afternoon on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, or Friday every week, or at any of the other times mentioned above, phone Mrs. Elsie M. Walls, 2745-W.

OPA Pleased With Jones Appointment

See Better Relations With W. F. A. As Result Of Changes Made

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 1—Administration quarters Wednesday forecast closer and more harmonious relations between the Office of Price Administration and the War Food Administration as a result of the change in command of the latter agency.

OPA sources generally were believed to be well pleased with the appointment of Judge Marvin Jones, an affable Texan with a record of strong support for President Roosevelt's policies, as head of the food administration.

It was no secret that Chester Davis, Jones' predecessor, and OPA officials did not work well together. From the outset of his appointment in March, Davis staunchly opposed OPA's efforts to place ceilings on livestock.

Frequent disagreements came up between the two agencies from that time on and Davis was not consulted when OPA inaugurated its program to roll back meat and butter prices through subsidies, an undertaking now imperiled by congressional opposition.

Informed quarters expressed the opinion, however, that OPA and WFA dealings now will run smoothly with the elevation of Jones to the food production post. Jones has long been considered a representative of the James F. Byrnes school of thought on economic stabilization.

The OPA also has worked closely with War Mobilization Director Byrnes and should find it easy to cooperate with Jones, who has been Byrnes' agricultural adviser.

MILLBURN

A talk on building a house for laying hens by J. P. Hartt and on different ways of using strawberries by Mrs. Mildred Ramsey with music by the grange and a "stunt" made up the program for the lecture hour at the regular meeting of Millburn grange. Light refreshments were served at the close of the evening. Mrs. Laura Mayne and Mrs. Blanche Drenning being the committee in charge. The young people will have charge of the program for the next meeting.

Some sections of this neighborhood were visited by a severe wind storm on Monday which broke down trees and did considerable damage to telephone lines and buildings.

Mrs. W. F. Mursch has spent the past ten days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benton Tedlie of West Lafayette, O. Her brother, Pfc. Chalmer Tedlie, who is a paramarine, was also spending a short furlough at home. Mr. Mursch visited his parents in Crafton one week end and drove to West Lafayette for Mrs. Mursch the first of the week.

Eight Injured In Bristol Fire

(International News Service)

BRISTOL, Pa., July 1.—Five employes and three firemen nursed injuries today following a series of flash explosions at the Rohm & Haas Co., Inc., Chemical Plant at Bristol.

Fire, believed to have started when an oil burner supplying heat to a distillation unit backfired, ignited 60-gallon drums of solvent which blew up as the heat became intense. The flames destroyed the interior of a corrugated metal warehouse alongside which the outdoor distillery was located.

Company officials, who estimated damage at $50,000, said, however, that no major operations buildings were reached by the flames. A series of 13 explosions within 20 minutes brought thousands of Bristol residents to the scene and ambulances were dispatched to the plant from as far away as Trenton, N. J., as a precautionary measure when the fire broke out at 4:15 p. m. yesterday.

Silver Wings Are Given Youths Who Enlist In Air Corps

Recruiting Campaign For Enlistments In Air Branch On This Week By V. F. W.

Any 17-year-old boy who joins the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve is now given a pair of Silver Wings which he may wear while in civilian clothes, the U. S. Army air Forces announced today. The attractive lapel badge consists of silver wings and propeller with the letters "AC" on a blue center.

The Army Air Force is beginning an intensive recruiting campaign to enlist thousands of 17 year olds who wish to serve their country as Bombardiers, Navigators or Pilots. Youths may apply for this branch of the service through the Neshannock Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, 126 East Washington street, Thursday or Friday nights, of this week. No school or college credits are required. They will be given preliminary physical and mental examinations. Those who pass will be sent to Pittsburgh, to take their final examinations and if found acceptable may volunteer immediately for enrollment in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve, provided they have written consent of their parents.

They are entitled to wear the silver and blue wing badge while remaining on inactive status, continuing their education or civilian occupation. When reservists reach the age of 18, or if they choose, at the end of the first school semester after that date, they will be called to active duty for pre-flight training. This includes a 5-month preparatory course at a college or university which has been specially selected to conduct academic courses for aviation cadets.

Aviation cadet training is also available to men 18 to 26, inclusive, married or single, who may volunteer for induction through their selective service boards.

Young men seeking more information about aviation cadet training are invited to visit the Neshannock Post headquarters at once. There is no charge for any of this service. The post also has a few more books left which may be had by calling in person.

Germany now restricts aspirin sales.

New Air Raid Test Signals For Control Centers

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 1.—County control centers today were asked to study further the new "black-box" warning system used by the State Defense Council to transmit signals for air raid tests.

Col. Lynn G. Adams, commander of protective civilian war services, pointed out that "at least 20" counties failed to participate in the predawn blackout on June 22 "because the telephonists on duty did not understand their duties and did not fan out the warning."

Adams added that "as all future warnings, real and practice, will come over the black box...all district warning centers (must) recheck their readiness to function and hold the necessary schools so that all personnel responsible for receiving or fanning out warnings will understand duties and be able to carry them out effectively."

In another directive, Adams said that control center exercises will be held on the first and third Wednesday of each month beginning July 7 to develop "incidents" for commanders. The public does not participate in the control center tests.

Boxing Bouts For Service Men At Grove City College

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, July 1.—Five soldier and five civilian bouts will via for honors in a U.S.O. boxing program to be staged on College field here Saturday evening for the entertainment of servicemen in training here. The program is sponsored by the local U.S.O., and all arrangements have been taken over by the Farrell Boosters club, which has conducted amateur boxing shows for 13 years.

Soldiers from Camp Shenango will appear in five bouts, and leading district amateurs will compete in the balance of the card. The show will start at 6 p. m. because of the lack of adequate lighting arrangements, and there will be no admission fee to anyone, with seat reservations for the servicemen.

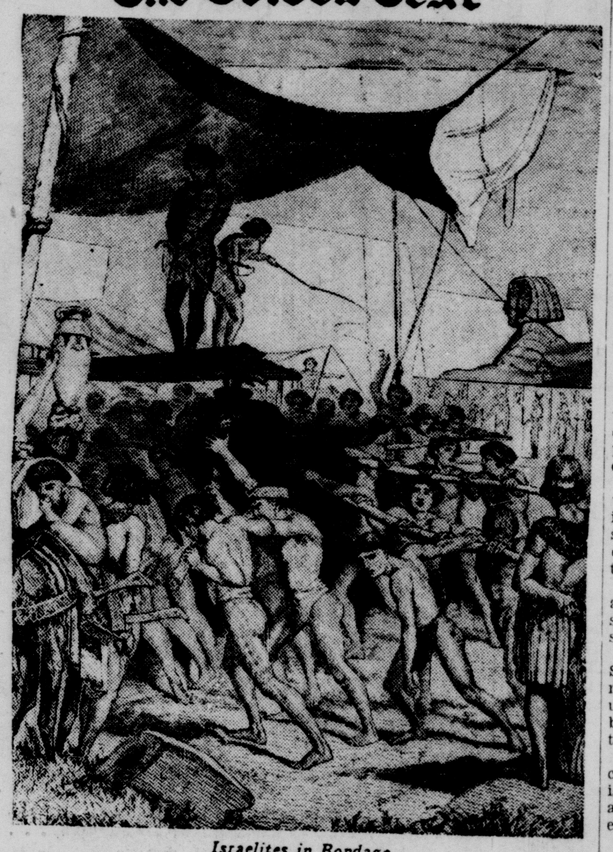

A special feature will be presented by 36 marines, in a demonstration of complicated quick-time drill maneuvers.

Americans haven't been guilty of a single war atrocity except using "dove" as the past tense of "dive".

A PEOPLE IN DISTRESS

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Israelites in Bondage

"They cried, and their cry came up unto God by reason of the bondage."—Exodus 2:23.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for July 4 is Exodus 1:1-22; 2:23-25, the Golden Text being Exodus 2:23 "They cried, and their cry came up unto God by reason of the bondage.")

The lesson today is about the early persecution of the Jews, which has been going on for the last 3,200 years, culminating in the present time, as the Nazi are trying to exterminate the race in Europe.

The first chapter of Exodus (which means "a going out" in the Greek) tells of the number of people who accompanied Jacob into Egypt, which is estimated at 70. However, this did not include many of the women and children, also servants and followers, so that one authority calculates there must have been several thousand altogether who came at Joseph's invitation.

But Joseph died, and all his brethren, and "the children of Israel were fruitful and increased abundantly, and multiplied, and waxed exceeding mighty; and the land was filled with them."

In the beginning, when Joseph persuaded his father and all his family to come to Egypt, they lived in the land of Goshen. But when they multiplied, they overran other parts of Egypt, too. Egypt was a healthy country, there was plenty to eat, hunger being practically unknown.

Egyptians Forget Joseph

At first the Egyptian kings looked with favor on the Israelites, who strengthened their eastern frontier where they were most liable to attack, but after a time, a king arose who "knew not Joseph" and all he had done for the people of Egypt, and he was alarmed by the number of the nation, and said "Behold, the people of the children of Israel are more and mightier than we (how soon do people forget favors):

"Come on, let us deal wisely with them; lest they multiply, and it come to pass, that, when there falleth out any war, they join also unto our enemies, and fight against us, and so get them up out of the land."

In alliance with other Canaanite nations, the Hittites threatened an invasion of Egypt, and the king thought it possible that the Israelites might join with their enemies. So the Egyptians set them to the hardest kind of labor, building treasure cities, pithom and Raamses. Strict task-masters were set over them who not only made them work terribly hard, but "made their lives bitter with hard bondage," regular slave labor. An overseer with a stick was put over them, and if he saw fit to punish he beat them severely with the stick. Sometimes even women and children were so beaten.

All this affliction did not kill off the Israelites. They continued to multiply. So the Pharoah thought of another punishment—a dreadful one. He called the Hebrew midwives, who attended the women when their babies were born, and ordered them to kill all the male children as soon as they were born.

The midwives did not obey, however, and when the king discovered this, he asked the midwives why they had not done as he told them, and they made an excuse, that the Hebrew women bore their children so quickly and easily that they were in the world before the midwives arrived. The midwives feared God, and God looked with favor upon them for disobeying the king.

Orders Boy Babies Drowned

So then Pharaoh told his own people that every time a boy baby was born they should throw him into the river, but if it was a girl it was to be allowed to live. His people did not co-operate very heartily in this, however.

In time this inhuman king died but the Israelites were still treated as slaves and driven to hard labor and beaten, so that they "sighed by reason of the bondage, and they cried, and their cry came up unto God by reason of the bondage.

"And God heard their groaning, and God remembered His covenant with Abraham, with Isaac, and with Jacob. And God looked upon the children of Israel, and God had respect unto them."

How did He show his "respect unto" the Hebrews? By raising up a leader of their own people to lead them out of Egypt into the Promised Land. But that is another lesson Persecutions have a way not of exterminating the persecuted peoples, but of spreading them and their ideas over the face of the earth. It seems that Our Maker cares for those who are afflicted and who turn to Him, listens to their cries, and comforts and helps them. This is for us, too, to remember in our times of trouble.

Taxicab Companies Protest Share-Ride Program of P. U. C.

Contend Scheme Inequitable For Passengers On Short Hauls

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 1—Three taxicab companies today protested to the Public Utilities Commission over the "Share-and-ride" plan for group transportation under the commission's recent war emergency order.

They were the Tube City Taxi & Transfer Co., Inc., of McKeesport; the Johnstown Taxicab Service, and the Independent Taxi Service, Inc., of Scranton.

The commission's order provides that under the plan the meter flag must be thrown each time a rider leaves the cab. The companies generally contended that the scheme was "inequitable" because passengers riding longer distances would pay less fares than riders being driven on shorter hauls.

They contended that the public would wait at cab stands for groups instead of taking the regular transit systems and in so doing increase the load on already curtailed cab traveling.

Commissioner Thomas C. Buchanan asserted that "I can't imagine somebody standing outside a taxi stand waiting for a reduced price."

Walter J. Nape, manager of the Scranton company admitted that more people could be transported under the "share the ride" plan, but asserted that "people would take advantage of it."

Chairman John Siggins, Jr., declared that "the intent of the plan is to transport the maximum public at the minimum of tire and gas expense."

Raymond Patterson, president of the McKeesport firm, asserted that his fleet had been operating under a group riding system where the meter flag is thrown once and each rider pays whatever the meter registers as his desination. "We haven't had any kicks out our way about this plan," he said. He pointed out that more people would ride in cabs under the P. U. C. order and result in additional cost on the wear of equipment.

Commerce Head Testifies

Watson M. McKee, manager of the McKeesport Chamber of Commerce, appeared as a witness for Patterson and stated that he would object to "strangers riding with me and getting a bargain rate." Buchanan asked him if he ever rode in Pittsburgh taxicabs because they are under the commission's share the ride plan.

"Yes, but the drivers there use it pretty much to suit themselves," McKee asserted. Buchanan ackowledged that the commission had a complaint in that connection and was studying it.

John E. Zamer, owner of the Johnstown company, also protested to the commission, but then walked out of the hearing declaring that "I won't operate my cabs for nothing—I'll get another job." He became angry when Buchanan stated that "it is strange that out of 350 cab companies operating under the plan in the state, only three of you complained."

Daily Schedule At Boy Scout Camp Is Busy And Healthful

Work And Play Balanced For 55 Boys Now At Camp, Under 10 Counsellors

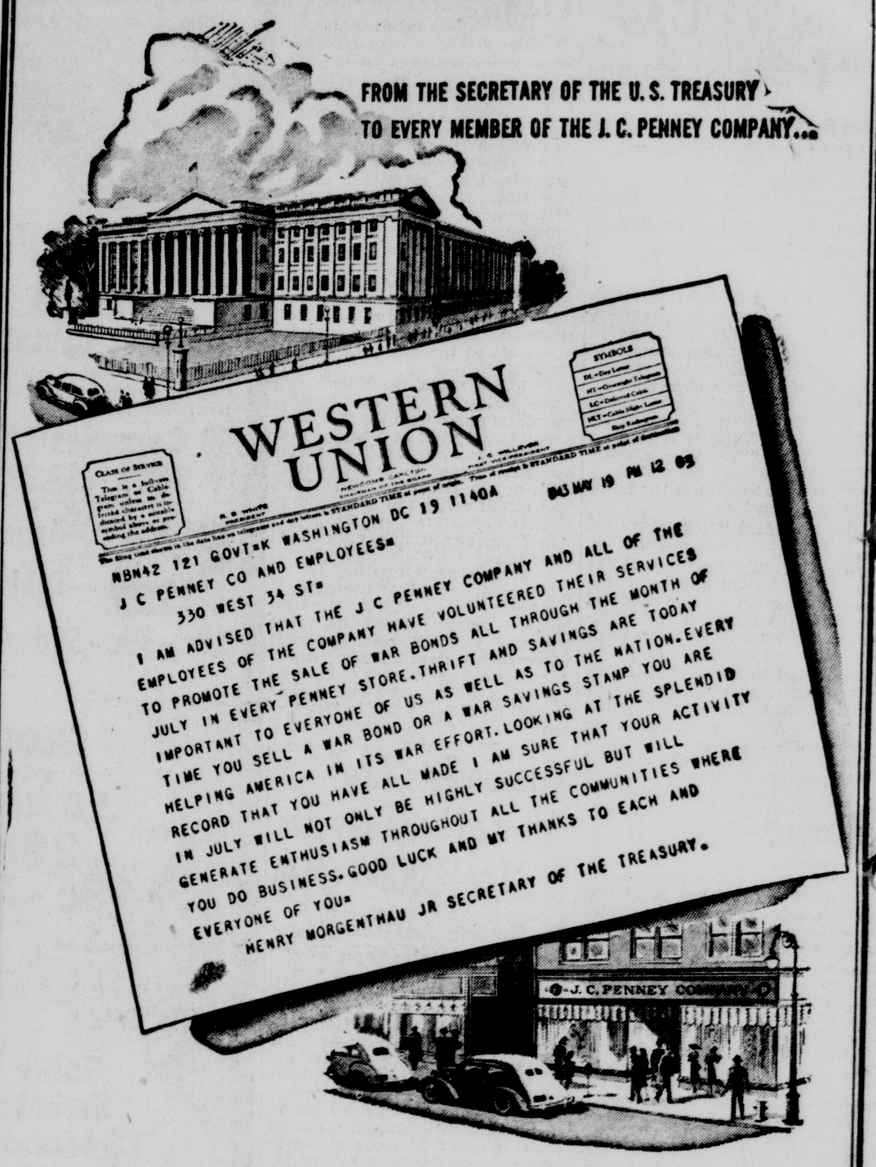

It looks like a busy, happy camping time for the young men at the Boy Scout camp this summer, if their daily schedule is any indication. Camp Directors Hartman and Berry have worked out a well-balanced program of eating, sleeping, working and playing for the 55 boys now in camp, all under the supervision of 10 councellors, except for the production end of the eating, which is supervised by two cooks.

At 7 o'clock, reveille is sounded; 7:35, breakfast; 8:15 to 9, camp detail; 9 to 9:30, inspection; 9:30 to 11, scout craft; 11 to 12:30, swimming, under strict supervision (each boy is tested for swimming when he first enters camp); 12:30, lunch; 1:15 to 2:30, quiet hour; 2:30 to 3:45, games, including horseshoe pitching, ping-pong, basketball and mushball, also camp craft, including woodcraft, leather, lanyards, canoeing; 4 to 5:30, swimming.

Supper is at 6 o'clock, followed by colors at 7:15; 7:15 to 8:30, games; 8:45, campfire; 9:45, all in quarters for patrol devotions; 10 o'clock, all in bed. There are special vespers on Sunday at 8:45 p. m.

Estimate 17,650 In Pay-As-You-Go Tax List In City
(Special To The News)
NEW YORK, July 1.—In New Castle, beginning this month, 2,650 people who never paid federal income taxes before will enter the fold of direct contributors to Uncle Sam's coffers, via the pay-as-you-go plan. The total number of local taxpayers will be, on the basis of treasury department estimates, 17,650.
They will pay a total of $2,260,000, which will come out of their pay envelopes in installments during the year. The amount is a jump of about 28 percent over 1942 and is attributable to larger earnings locally and the increase in population.
Lawrence county will have 27,500 individual returns for a total tax of $3,560,000.

LITTLE STORIES OF NEW CASTLE

Not everyone is addressed by the name they had bestowed upon them when they first arrived in this world.

For instance, in city hall, there is C. Ed. Brown. Does he get that name? He does not. He draws "Eddie".

Some of the mayor's more intimate friends address him as "Charlie" or "Bunt".

D. O. Davies wouldn't know he was being addressed if anyone called him David instead of "D. O."

James Gibson is "Jimmy" and Joseph D. Alexander is "Joe".

Al is the "handle" for Councilman Albert Hoyland while Dr. W. A. Womer gets the tired man's address for "Doctor" in just plain "Doc"

Dignified appearing Robert McKinney White, the city solicitor always is addressed as "Bob" by solons.

NEW YORK SUMMER SOCIAL REGISTER CURTAILED BY WAR

NEW YORK, July 1.—Dowagers and duchesses tearfully consoled one another today on another victim of war-time restrictions—a drastically reduced summer social register.

The register which ordinarily lists summer residences of the persons lucky enough to be included, now finds that many of its members have the same winter and summer address. The register also notes that there are fewer marriages this summer than last, and simply lists as "abroad," those socialites serving overseas with the armed forces.

NOW SHE SHOPS "CASH AND CARRY"
Without Painful Backache
Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Schools Sell War Total Of $215,937 In Bonds, Stamps

City Public Schools Sell $178,413 Worth War Stamps During Past School Year

Through New Castle public schools, pupils a total of $215,936.96 has been invested in war bonds and stamps since the entry of the United States into World War II, according to figures released today by B. K. Thacker, chairman of the War Bond and Stamp committee of the New Castle public schools.

Of this sum, approximately 85%, or, in exact figures, $178,413.20, has been put into stamps and bonds through the public schools during the school year of 1942-1943. The balance of $37,523.76 was invested prior to June 1942.

Monaca Captain Dies While Jap Prisoner

(Special To The News)

BEAVER FALLS, July 1.—The death of Captain Joseph Lee Adams, formerly of Monaca, while a prisoner of the Japanese in the Philippines was revealed Wednesday when word was received by his widow, Mrs. Marcella Adams. Captain Adams was a nephew of Mrs. A. J. Edson of New Castle.

He was born in Monaca and served overseas in World War I, was recalled to active duty two and a half years ago. He had been promoted to captain after going to the Philippines, where he was captured by the enemy at the fall of Corregidor.

You can find a spare dollar, can't you? It's worth spending if it will buy an aircraft carrier to bomb Tokio, isn't it? Well, here's your chance to do that. Buy War Stamps!

Accused Murderer Of Ex-Sweetheart Is Declared Insane

(Special To The News)

LISBON, O., July 1.—Previously indicted for first degree murder in the slaying of his former sweetheart, Miss Phoebe Peachey, Francis Holland, 46, of East Liverpool was Wednesday committed to the Lima state hospital for the criminally insane, by order of Judge Joel H. Sharp of the Columbiana county court.

The order was the result of a lunacy hearing in Massillon state hospital, where Dr. Arthur G. Hyde declared Holland insane.

Holland admitted he had shot Miss Peachey as she was walking home from church on May 2, police said. He will be held at the Lima hospital until his mental condition permits his trial here.

New Families Arrive In City

Steady Increase In New Families Is Reported In Past Few Weeks

New families continue to arrive almost daily from other cities to make their homes in New Castle in spite of the difficulties many of them are encountering in some instances in finding suitable houses or apartments. Some are taking small furnished apartments who would prefer a large unfurnished apartment or a house. Others are in houses in an uncertain state of repair who are anxiqus to move into compact efficiency apartments.

Available living quarters for newcomers are available as some people here move to other towns or owners of large houses turn them into multiple dwellings, or where related local families move into the one home and rent the one left vacant.

Families from out of town who have brought their household goods to New Castle to establish residence here within the past few weeks include a number who are associated with the new industrial plants.

Recent Arrivals

Recent comers associated with the Aluminum Company of America include:

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Coleville, formerly of Leonia, N. J., who have taken up residence at 220 Hazelcroft avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Miller, formerly of Petersburg, Fla., who are living at 311 Boyles avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Conrad F. Babilon, from New Kensington, at home at 1605 Delaware avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Leary, here from Tenafly, N. J., are living at 312 Sumner avenue; Mr. and Mrs. George F. Hays, former residents of Chicago, are living at 133 Edison avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Favre, formerly of Durmont, N. J., have moved into 316 Norwood avenue; Mr. and Mrs. John Boyd, who previously lived in Charleston, S. C., have moved into an apartment at 314 Boyles avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Raft, another Aluminum Company family, are moving here from New York City, to take up residence at 2309 North Mercer street.

Some U. E. & F. Co. Families

United Engineering & Foundry Company families recently come to New Castle include:

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Bower, formerly of Westview, now living at 321½ Winter avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald A. Murphy, now at home at 317 Fairmont avenue, are former residents of Alliance, O.; Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Powell, from Clarion, have moved into 811 North Mercer street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hilty, formerly of Apollo, are living at 1007 North Jefferson street; Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Hovis, here from Butler, have taken an apartment at 313 East Falls street; another family from Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Lee H. Dean, are living at 503 South Walnut street; sharing the house at 503 South Walnut street is another United Engineering family, Mr. and Mrs. John Argilan, from Dravosburg.

Other Newcomers

Other recent newcomers to New Castle include:

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Klebe, now living at 309 Hillcrest avenue, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Dyer, of 610 South Ray street, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moore, of 826 Morton street, all previously residents of Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Randolph, from Cleveland, are living at 414 Sumner avenue; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Richter at 412 Meyer avenue, formerly lived in Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. James H. Griffith, now living at 1208 Highland avenue, came here from McKees Rocks; Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wagner, of 111 East Wallace avenue, are former residents of Jeannette.

Penny 'For Luck' Brings $5,256 To U. S. Navy Relief

General Motors Aircraft Workers Paste Money On Navy Wildcat Fighter

(International News Service)

LINDEN, N. J., July 1.—Navy relief was $5,256 richer today with the good luck and best wishes of workers at the Linden plant of the Eastern Aircraft Division of General Motors going to the men who fly the planes they make.

As a navy wildcat fighter was coming off the assembly line, Leo Zebrolski spied a shiny new penny on the floor beside it. Taking a piece of transparent adhesive tape, he put the cent on the plane, explaining it would be good luck.

Other workers quickly caught on and a woman welder pasted on a quarter and for the next 30 hours thousands of the factory's employes filed past the plane and tack on their contribution.

Dollar bills were frequent, and one man put on a $20 bill, explaining he had three sons in the navy. The total finally reached $5,256 which employes voted to give the Navy Relief society, because the plane that inspired the spontaneous demonstration is destined for Navy or Marine corps fliers.

When Bowels Refuse To Move Easily—Watch Out!

Forcing! Straining!—a Common Cause of Hemorrhoids—Here's Easy Quick Way to Moisten Hard Dry Passages

When because of constipation you wake up mornings feeling half sick, headachy, with a stomach that rebels at food, tongue coated, bad breath; upset and "out-of-sorts"—bowl movements an effort—you want relief and you want it fast.

In a glass of hot water put one teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts and drink. 15 or 20 minutes later follow with your usual breakfast cup of hot coffee or tea. Moisture is promptly fed into those hard, dry wastes softening them so they can be more gently and easily expelled. Usually within 30 minutes you get glorious relief and should begin to feel bright and refreshed again.

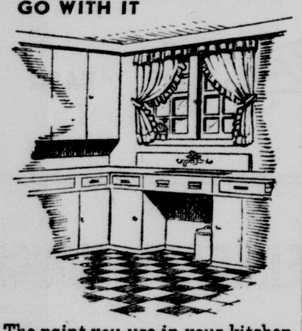

Take only as directed. Try Kruschen for 5 days—for you can so regulate the dose as to bring about that "easy" movement such as you have long desired.

Don't delay—Get Kruschen Salts for prompt and effective relief from forcing and straining. Ask for it today at—

Eckerd's of New Castle.

WAR BUYING PROGRAM TO BE REVIEWED

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 1.—War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes announced today that he had requested war procurement agencies to set up committees to review the government's various war buying programs with a view to making the best possible use of manpower, materials and money.

Byrnes told a news conference that the purpose of the various committees would be to revise the war production program in order to eliminate or reduce less essential war manufacturing so that production of things most needed to prosecute the war could be increased to a maximum.

The committee, Byrnes said, would be created within the War Department, Navy Department, War Manpower Commission, War Production Board, War Shipping Administration, and also in the War Food Administration.

Byrnes said that the work of these various committees would be gathered together and presented to the war mobilization committee so that its members and President Roosevelt could receive the "whole picture" of what the war production program should be.

Byrnes stressed, however, that the revision of war procurement programs did not mean that he was looking forward to a shorter war.

On the contrary, he said, it was his thought that because of the vast scope of the war, as much manpower, materials and money should be devoted to the most important things as is possible.

Ex-Rhumba Dancer Is Given Sentence

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 1—Carmen Beach, 29-year-old ex-rhumba dancer, who was convicted of white slavery charges last week for operating a "call house" catering to Latin American diplomats, on Wednesday was sentenced to serve from one to three years in a federal prison.

She also was fined $1,500 by Judge Matthew McGuire. Sentence was imposed in the federal district court after the jurist denied a motion for a new trial.

Arguments on the motion, preparatory to sentencing of the attractive sloe-eyed brunette, delayed resumption of the trial of Eldon Powell, 30, who is charged with white slavery in another case, for bringing a bit-player in the movies to Washington to work in the "Hopkins Institute," a lavish call-house.

Nelson On Tour In Pittsburgh

WPB Chairman On Inspection Of Steel Plants In War Program

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 1.—A "considerably improved" steel picture—although still far from normal—will greet Donald M. Nelson today when the war production board chairman arrives here with several high-ranking aides for a two-day inspection tour of Pittsburgh steel plants and to launch the nation's "steel for victory" drive.

Although steel output is much below theoretical capacity, the WPB chief and his companions on the trip, Charles E. Wilson, vice-chairman of the production board, and Hiland G. Batchellor, director of the board's steel division, will find only 11 instead of 14 Carnegie-Illinois blast furnaces banked and production at clairton By-Products Works back to 85 per cent of normal.

Nelson, on a flying trip from Washington, will tour the Carnegie-Illinois' homestead, Duquesne and Irvin works and then move on to the Pittsburgh Steel Corporation's Monessen plant.

The WPB head has said he is seeking to spur steel output throughout the country via the medium of personal visits with the steel workers and their management and labor representatives.

The official itinerary, expected to take up all of today and tomorrow includes stops at the Edgar Thomson works of Carnegie-Illinois at nearby Braddock, the Allegheny-Ludlum Steel Company's Brackenridge mill and the Jones and Laughlin Aliquippa works.

Nelson will make short, informal talks to the workers in the plants to impress them with the necessity of topping all previous steel production marks on the eve of a possible American invasion of the European continent.

At the conclusion of the tour tonight, Nelson; Philip Murray president of the CIO and the United Steelworkers of America; Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the United States Steel Corporation, Wilson and Batchellor will make formal addresses to be broadcast to the nation at a steel executives dinner.

Neshannock Post Membership Champs

Secure Most Members In Pennsylvania Department For Second Consecutive Year

If you happen to see any of the members of Neshannock Post No. 315, Veterans of Foreign Wars, with their chests sticking out, it is for a very good reason, as the post is still the champion of the Department of Pennsylvania in securing new members. Post 315 was again awarded the trophy cup at the state encampment held in Pittsburgh last week, for securing the largest number of new members of any post in the department.

This is the second consecutive year that this post has carried off this honor, something no other post in the department has ever done. Post 315 will be four years old July 15. Starting off with a charter membership of 48 members it has more than doubled its membership each year, until now it has 531 members in good standing. Some 250 of the members are serving at the present time in all parts of the world in all branches of the armed service. Already the members are planning to double their membership for next year and try to become the largest post in the department.

All of the present war veterans who are serving on foreign soil or in hostile waters are eligible for membership, giving the Veterans of Foreign Wars a large potential force to draw from for new members.

Martinique May Be More Friendly

Reports Indicate Move To Change Government On Island

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The State Department today studied the reported action of Admiral Georges Robert, pro-Vichy French high commissioner of Martinique, in inviting the United States, in effect, to supplant his government with one more sympathetic to the United Nations.

Officials declined to comment on the reports, and said that they had received no official notification from Robert—who issued a "communique" to residents of the French Indies.

Inasmuch as Robert was reported to have said he had asked Washington to send a "plenipotentiary" to fix the terms for a change of French authority, the department awaited the arrival of any such request.

Diplomatic circles pointed out that the United States withdrew all recognition from the government of Admiral Robert some time ago because of his pro-Axis leanings.

They held it unlikely that any direct dealings with the governor-general were likely at this time unless he agrees completely to terms laid down by the Washington government.

Since recognition was ended between Robert and Washington, relations between the French Antilles and the United States have been more or less in the hands of the American Navy.

Three major French warships are immobilized in West French Indian harbors—the old aircraft carrier Bearn and the cruisers Emile Bertin and Jeanne D'Arc.

The stopping of food shipments and shipments of oil to the Antilles months ago were felt to have played a strong part in Robert's reported decision.

LOCAL NAVY PILOT ON LEAVE FROM DUTY IN PACIFIC BATTLE AREA

Lieut. (j. g.) William R. Kelley, aviation pilot in the United States Naval Reserve, who has been engaged in overseas duty and combat duty in the Pacific battle zone for the past 17 months, since he completed training at Jacksonville, Fla., will arrive home within a few days to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Newell A. Kelly, of 344 Shaw street.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly received a wire this morning from their son stating that he has arrived on the west coast and will arrive home as soon as train schedules permit.

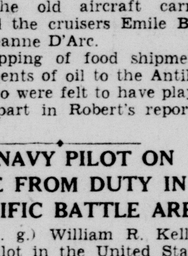

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL DISPLAY AT THIRD CHURCH

It is announced today, the Daily Vacation Bible school which has been conducted at the Third United Presbyterian church for the past three weeks, will hold "open house" at the church on Friday night, July 2, to show the work learned during this period.

Tells Kiwanians About Industrial Medicine Wednesday

Dr. Lumen Popp Gives Fine Talk At Luncheon Meeting In The Castleton

New Castle Kiwanis club members heard a fine talk on "Industrial Medicine" at their noon luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Wednesday noon.

Dr. Popp told about the advances which have been made to protect employes from occupational diseases, following discovery of how they spread. He also told how certain diseases affect individuals, and why certain types of industries would not hire employes who had ailments which might affect their work.

A message sent to district Kiwanians by Capt. W. C. Arthur, former president of the Pittsburgh Kiwanis club, was read to the members. In his letter, addressed to Past President Charles Donley, Capt. Arthur severely criticized the attitude of the people back home on the strike situation. Capt. Arthur, writing from a war theater on the other side of the globe, said: "I write with great bitterness in my heart. Do not let any Kiwanian write to a service man overseas that are not behind us—or mention donations or bonds sold, when traitors at home are permitted to strike and still not get shot or imprisoned. Good God, don't you realize every day the war is prolonged hundreds of fine American boys will pay the supreme sacrifice...When our own friends back home go back on us, it bewilders as well as embitters us."

President John J. Alexander, Secretary L. C. Mantz and Past President Tom Paden were named to attend the district meeting in Pittsburgh Wednesday night.

Plant Protection From Sabotage Is Studied At Session

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 1.—Plant security against sabotage, espionage and other subversive activites were discussed today at the closing sessions of the plant protection school here conducted by the third civilian defense region.

A warning of increased attempts to sabotage Americans was sounded yesterday by Colonel Henry A. Reninger of Baltimore, assistant director of protection for the third region. He expressed the belief that America can and probably will be bombed before the war is over and warned against complacency.

The amount of sabotage in this country so far probably has been less than was expected, Colonel Reninger said. German strategy has been concentrated to a great extent on a submarine campaign through which finished products, the ship and crew are sunk in one operation.

Tunisia Victory Blamed For Slump In War Production

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 1.—War production dropped in May due to overconfidence created by the allied victory in Tunisia, Lieut. Gen. Brehon Summervell, commander of the army service forces, stated today in an article in the July issue of Mill & Factory, trade paper.

Gen. Summervell declared:

"Our first taste of success on the battle fronts...(became) the principle obstacle in the way of getting the supplies we need even more to win an early and conclusive victory."

Somervell disclosed that military plans had to be revised to conform to lower production figures. But, "after surveying the national resources" the War Production Board decided that $75,000,000,000 in war equipment was the maximum goal that could be achieved."

Overall plants had to take a 25 per cent cut, Somervell wrote.

PAY-AS-YOU-GO TAX IN EFFECT

New Page In American Taxation History Established Today

By WILLIAM E. ZIMMERMAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 1.—A new page in the history of American taxation was turned today when a 20 per cent withholding tax became effective as part of the pay-as-you-go tax system.

With institution of the levy, the nation for the first time attempts to make 44,000,000 income taxpayers current. For 30 years income taxpayers have made payments in the year after the tax was applied.

The bureau of internal revenue, facing the enormous task of keeping the accounts of millions of taxpayers, was expected to expand its force rapidly within the next few months.

The 20 per cent withholding tax will be in addition to the payroll deductions now made for the old-age annuity phase of the social security program. Here is how the withholding levy works:

An individual has an exemption of $12 a week if single, $24 a week if married, with $6 a week for each child.

The employer groups wages into brackets under tables carried in the law, with the result that the deduction is made on an average wage base. All persons making between $40 and $50 a week pay the same withholding tax total. Other wages and salaries are divided into brackets of $5 and $10.

The employer forwards collections to the federal government at periodic intervals to be credited to the taxpayer.

The withholding levy is expected to meet the total income tax liability of single persons earning up to $2,700 a year and married persons up to $3,500 a year. The treasury estimates that 30,000,000 of the 44,000,000 taxpayers will become current.

Those whose withholding does not equal their tax must file declarations on September 15 and December 15, pay what the tax is estimated to be due, and also file a final return next March 15. If the withholding more than equals the taxpayer's tax, he gets a refund after next March 15.

The five per cent victory tax deduction made during the first six months of the year ended today and was merged into the new withholding tax.

Friends here were sorry to hear of the illness of Mrs. John Eppinger, who is in the Jameson Memorial hospital in Nw Castle. Her condition remains about the same at this writing.

NEGRO DIES AT AGE OF 116 IN GREENWICH

(International News Service)

GREENWICH, Conn., July 1—The death of a 116-year-old Negro, born of slave parents, was revealed today.

Known in Greenwich as "Alabam," Henry Lewis Walker made medical history when he underwent a serious glandular operation at the age of 112.

Born at Locust Hill, Albermarle County, Va., Walker ran away from his plantation 60 years ago. He lived in New York until 1922 when he came to Greenwich. Walker had 22 children, four of whom survive.

Sarong Swim Suit

Something new in bathing suits, an adaptation of the well-known sarong, forms the skirt of this two-piece beach ensemble worn by lovely Frances Gifford, screen player. Of yellow and blue printed silk persey, the skirt is a long piece of material which wraps around the figure (and what a figure!) over shorts.

Ambulance-Jeep Accident Fatal To Small Child

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 1.—A three-year-old boy was killed today in the second of two accidents involving an army jeep and an ambulance in which five other persons were injured.

The child, Edward J. Simlick, was struck by an ambulance carrying five persons who had been hurt previously when the jeep got out of control.

The little boy was placed in the ambulance along with the others, but died shortly after in Allegheny General hospital.

The first accident occurred when the army car, occupied by two military policemen, swerved into two young women and a girl, injuring all five, one soldier rcitically.

The civilians injured were listed as Anna Close, 18; her sister, Betty Lou, 10; and Mrs Margaret Mann, 17, all of nearby Crafton. The soldiers were identified as John Garrett, hurt seriously with a possible fracture of the skull, and Louis McDuff, minor abrasions.

One section will eat well and another go hungry till we have one over-all boss with a nation-wide organization geared up as one machine.

Chevalier Cliquot was credited with being the greatest sword swallower in history. He once swallowed at one time 14 swords up to their hilts.

NEW RECORD BY BLOOD DONORS

Total Of 197 On Wednesday Bringing Record So Far Up To 1560

Wednesday proved to be the outstanding day of the stay of the mobile unit of the Blood Donor Service of the Red Cross in New Castle when the largest number of donors to date gave blood at the temporary blood donor center here in the First Presbyterian church.

One hundred and ninety-seven was the record number of donors received at the center, bringing the total for the nine days since June 21 to 1560. Previous high for one day was 180. Friday evening will bring to a close the stay of the mobile unit of the Pittsburgh Red Cross chapter here.

On July 6, a Blood Donor unit will be set up in Ellwood City and will remain through next week. On July 12, 13, and 14 a unit will be in New Wilmington, and on July 15, 16, and 17 in Bessemer.

Of the donors received at the center Wednesday, all except one were donating to the Red Cross blood plasma work for the first or second time. The silver pin insignia of a third time donor was awarded Mrs. Nellie Donaldson.

Red Cross Canteen workers on Wednesday were Mrs. Louis Moretti, corps leader, Mrs. Russell Allen, Mrs. J. H. E. McKenzie, Mrs. Stephen Griffith, Mrs. H. A. Fazzone, Miss Lillian Hartman, Mrs. A. A. Liberator, and Mrs. Carl Andreason.

Registrars on Wednesday were Mrs. Plummer Gibson, Mrs. Russell Forney, Miss Ruth Drescher, and Miss Margaret Hogue.

Chairman of the Nurses Aide committee of the Lawrence county chapter of the Red Cross Mrs. Harry Barkby and Mrs. William J. Hinkson, representative of the Nurses Aide Corps, are among those constantly on duty at the center.

Motor corps members on call during the stay of the mobile unit are: Mrs. John McIlwraith, chairman; Mrs. Blake Waldo, co-chairman; Mrs. John Waddington, Mrs. Charles Magill, Mrs. Joseph Green, Mrs. John Meehan, Mrs. DuWayne Shaw, Mrs. Earl Dart, and Mrs. Harold Heck.

Volant Youth Is Accidentally Shot

Seldon McCrumb, Aged 13, In Jameson Memorial Hospital In Serious Condition

Seldon McCrumb, aged 13 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McCrumb of R. F. D. No. 2, Volant, is in the Jameson Memorial hospital in a serious condition, after having been accidentally wounded by a companion this morning. He was admitted to the hospital at 11 o'clock for treatment.

According to the story told at the hospital, the boy, with some companions about his own age, was camping along Neshannock Creek near Volant, and while handling a .22 calibre rifle, the gun was accidentally discharged, the ball piercing his abdomen on the right side.

Congress Recess Delay Is Likely

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Congressional leaders decided today ot postpone a proposed recess until President Roosevelt signs or vetoes the commodity credit corporation bill which carries provisions repudiating the administration's policy of supporting roll-back and lower prices with treasury subsidies.

"I understand we will wait and see what the president does," said Sen. George (D) Go. "It is expected he will act rather promptly."

Members of congress were divided in their opinions as to whether the president will approve or veto the measure.

Some "farm bloc" members say the president can not risk losing the important commodity credit corporation by a veto.

Plans had been made for congress to recess Saturday. It appeared probable that unless Mr. Roosevelt privately informs leaders of his intended action on the bill, the recess will be postponed for several days.

BESSEMER

Harry Murphy and daughter, Mary Jane, of Hillsville, called here on Sunday.

Pvt. Frank Bekoski of Camp Pickett, Va., spent the week end with his mother.

Elks Club War Committee Meets

Cigarettes to boys overseas is the latest project to be undertaken by the war commission of the Elks club B. P. O. E. No. 69.

During a regular meeting of the committee, held in the Elks club Wednesday night, the group studied the plan as presented by General Chairman John J. McCoy and voted favorably.

Plans were also outlined for a gigantic September party. Proceeds will be tossed into the committee's coffers which are used mainly to send out gift boxes to boys serving in the armed forces. A $1,0000 war bond will be awarded during the affair.

Gold was first mined in what is now Colorado in 1858.

Wallace-Jones Battle Expands

Flares Anew Despite Truce Efforts Made By Director Byrnes

JONES ACCUSES WALLACE AGAIN

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 1 — The quarrel between Vice President Henry A. Wallace and Secretary of Commerce Jesse H. Jones flamed into new fury today as Jones accused Wallace of making a "dastardly" and "untrue" charge and demanded a congressional investigation.

Both Wallace and Jones swapped punches anew after War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes—to whom President Roosevelt directed officials to take their quarrels—failed to establish peace.

Amazes Washington

The intensity of the feeling of the two officials amazed even Washington observers who have seen other quarrels break out and fade away among overworked and overwrought officials in a turbulent war city.

Political observers believe that repercussions may be heard in the 1944 Democratic national convention if Vice President Wallace is a candidate for renomination as the second highest official of the land.

Recalling that rebellion broke out in the Texas delegation in 1940 when Mr. Roosevelt picked Wallace for vice president—and noting that Jones is a power in his home state of Texas—observers saw the possibility of Jones' partisans launching a drive to head off renomination of the vice president.

Amazing phases of the almost unprecedented quarrel includes an appointive official—Byrnes—summoning a vice president to his office with a cabinet officer to explain their differences.

Surface Truce

Byrnes apparently achieved a surface truce—which lasted but four hours. He worked out a plan under which the Board of Economic Warfare, of which Wallace is chairman, would ask congress for funds with which to buy stratefic war materials in 40 nations.

Under present arrangements the BEW simply draws a "blank check" on the Reconstruction Finance Corporation of which Jones is head.

This plan was regarded as a compromise. It gave Wallace a chance to become entirely independent of Jones and met Jones' objection to another person ordering him to pay out government money against his wishes.

But Wallace, who issued a formal statement after the conference, shattered all possibility of harmony when he reiterated a charge that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation delayed the war effort by failing to stockpile critical materials.

"I advised Mr. Jones that in my statement to the press I had no intention to reflect upon his patriotism or his interest in the war effort," said Wallace. "I intended to assert that the delays in RFC in acting upon projects had delayed the war effort. I did not state or intend to create the impression that his personal motive was deliberately or intentionally to delay the war effort."

This statement aroused Jones ire anew. He issued a statement saying:

"Mr. Wallace in his statement tonight repeats that delays of the RFC have retarded the war effort. This dastardly charge is as untrue as when he first made it. As for the rest of his statement Mr. Wallace was not authorized to speak for me. I will continue to speak for myself and as previously stated, I shall insist upon a congressional investigation."

Purchase, Resale Of Food By Government Under Consideration

Report Move May Replace Subsidy Rollback Plan, Opposed By Congress

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 1 — War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes revealed Wednesday that a large-scale program for government purchase and resale of important foodstuffs has been discussed as a means of holding down the cost of living.

"Dozens of different proposals of that character have been discussed for many months," Byrnes told a news conference. "I don't know whether it is being discussed at the moment." He did not indicate whether a decision had been reached.

Reports have circulated, however, that the administration was contemplating such a move to replace the ill-fated subsidy rollback plan at the consumer level, which congress has opposed.

At the same time, Byrnes announced that Food Administrator Marvin Jones had been appointed to the WPB and the OWM, bringing him into direct contact with high administration policy makers.

Although Byrnes said that he did not know whether a program of government purchase and resale of food would serve as a substitute for consumer subsidies, informed sources believe that it would accomplish the same purpose.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the agriculture department today declared that Americans will not starve this year or ever.

"We may have to adjust ourselves to eating new foods and making substitutions, but we won't go hungry," the official said.

Summer Recess Is Congress Plan

Vacation For Congressmen May Begin Within Next Ten Days

By ROBERT HUMPHREYS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 1 — Possibility that Congress may recess within 10 days until September for its first real vacation since 1939 arose today as leaders strove to clear a last-minute log jam of legislation.

A recess resolution may be adopted by Saturday night but Congress cannot quit until completion of its present business, expected next week.

Not since November 3, 1939, has Congress taken anything approaching a real holiday. The members have been in almost continuous session since January 3, 1940, declaring only a 12-day recess that summer for the national political conventions, and adjourning last December 16th for the Christmas holidays.

The recess when voted is expected to be taken under terms unique in congressional history. Indicative of the close harmony in which leaders of both parties have been working, the recess resolution will direct Congress to reconvene at any time on five-day joint notice either from Senate Republican Leader McNary and House GOP Leader Martin, or from Vice President Wallace and Speaker Rayburn, acting for the Democrats.

Five Senators To See War Overseas

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 1—The War Department Wednesday approved plans for a committee of five senators to visit overseas theaters of war.

The senators selected are: Chandler (D) Ky., Lodge (R) Mass., members of military affairs committee; Russell (D) Ga., appropriations and naval committee; Mead (R) N. Y., appropriations and Truman committee, and Brewster (R) Me., naval and Truman committees.

CITIZENS ARE ASKED TO CUT DOWN WASTE

HARRISBURG, July 1 — Gov. Edward Martin today called upon Pennsylvanians to join a nation-wide campaign to reduce waste of human and material resources.

"Accidents jeopardize our nation's security by hindering war production, wasting material, manpower and time needed for victory," the governor stated. "I call upon every citizen, every business and every industry to join wholeheartedly in support of the nation-wide safety campaign to prevent needless waste of human and material resources over the Fourth of July holiday."

New Members Are Named To State Planning Board

HARRISBURG, July 1.—Gov. Edward Martin Wednesday appointed nine members to the state planning board, including four citizens, to supervise the commonwealth's zoning laws.

Cabinet members named to the board were: Secretary of the commonwealth Charles M. Morrison, secretary of highways John U. Shroyer, secretary of forests and waters James A. Kell, and secretary of agriculture Miles Horst. Citizen members were: Mrs. Sarah B. Anderson, of Grove City; Dr. Alfred H. Williams, of Wallingford; Robert J. Virtue, of Erie; George W. Reily, of Harrisburg; and J. Hale Steinman, of Lancaster, who was reappointed. Secretary of commerce Floyd Chalfant is a member ex-officio. Members serve without compensation but receive traveling expenses.

Cabinet members serve during their tenure in office while other appointees are named for five-year terms and must be confirmed by the senate.

Cards Split War Fund Bill With Giants; Dodgers Batter Reds Twice

WHITE SOX TRIP WASHINGTON, 7-1

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 1.—That the National League pennant race is to be resolved into a knockdown and dragout tussle between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers seemed evident today. The rest of the clubs are too weak to offer competition.

On yesterday's war-fund program the Dodgers took a doubleheader from the Cincinnati Reds, 5 to 0 and 11 to 5, to pull up within five percentage points of the pace-setting Cardinals who split with the New York Giants.

Cards, Bums Class

A while back it looked as though some of the rest of the teams might get into the middle of this tussle, but now there no longer is any doubt as to the identity of the class of the league. It must be St. Louis or Brooklyn, despite the fact that both have been hard hit by the war.

The Dodgers attracted 26,893 spectators for the double bill with the Reds on the war relief program and cashed in by a shutout in the opener on Curt Davis' four-hit pitching and on Newsom's relief pitching in the nightcap. Newsom scored his eighth triumph as first inning relief man.

With that double win the Dodgers made it five straight and 11 out of their last 13 starts to keep on the heels of the Cards. Dixie Walker and Paul Waner hit home runs in the nightcap.

Bucs, Phils Tie

The Philadelphia Phillies and Pittsburgh Pirates played to an 11-inning 3 to 3 tie at Philadelphia in a game called because of a National league rule forbidding a night game extra inning from starting after 11:50 p. m. The Bucs held a 3-0 edge going into the last of the seventh.

The Cards meanwhile struggled to a 4 to 3 defeat in 10 innings and then won their nightcap with the Giants, 5 to 0, on Howie Pollett's six-hit hurling. Pollett was helped by two homers from Klein and one each from Musial and Litwhiler. That's slugging.

The Chicago Cubs swept a doubleheader from the Boston Braves, 6 to 2 and 5 to 4, the latter game being clinched by Bill Nicholson with a home run in the ninth inning after two were out.

Yanks Increase Lead

The New York Yankees increased their American league lead to 2½ games over the Washington Senators with a victory over the Cleveland Indians while the Senators were losing to the Chicago White Sox.

The Yanks cashed in on the hitting of Nick Etten, who homered and doubled for a 3 to 1 triumph, while the Senators were losing to the Chicago White Sox, 7 to 1.

Johnny Niggeling lifted the St. Louis Browns out of the American league cellar with a three-hit, 3 to 1 performance against the Philadelphia Athletics.

The Detroit Tigers and the Boston Red Sox played to a 12-inning 3 to 3 deadlock in a night game, with Higgins hitting a ninth-inning home run for Detroit to tie the score.

GETS COMMISSION

Major's Star Squads Picked

Many Familiar Faces Missing For Philly All-Star Setto On July 13

By BILL COLLINS
INS Sports Writer

CHICAGO, July 1.—The usual faces will be seen and the usual confusion will reign when the all-star baseball game is played at Shibe park, Philadelphia, the night of July 13.

William Harridge announced the personnel of his 25-man American league squad today and 13 of the ball players are old hands at the all-star business.

Members of the National league team were announced last night, and 15 of them have been around before. In fact, two, Mel Ott and Bill Herman, have played in nine of the 10 extravaganzas

Bill Dickey was the American league managers' No. 1 backstopping choice, and if injuries hadn't forced him to withdraw from the '42 game, he'd be the oldest man on the diamond in point of all-star service the night of July 13, with 10 chevrons.

Every American league club is represented on the squad, which nevertheless has a distinct Cleveland-New York tinge. Each has six playing representatives; in addition Joe McCarthy will master-mind the affair and the Yanks get one of the coaches. Art Fletcher, the batting practice catcher, John Schulte, and the trainer, Eddie Froelich.

The selections will be printed in Friday's News.

Here And There In Sports Land

Had Jimmy Dunn accepted an offer made to him to fight Battling Nelson when the Dane was kingpin of the lightweights Dunn would have beaten him, according to Billy Fessler, localite, who for years was associated with Dunn in Cleveland boxing. He made this statement several days ago to the writer and several mutual friends.

When we informed "Shorty", as we knew him, this this was one story we did not know, Fessler explained that in 1910, Sunny Jim Coffroth, California promoter, now dead, sent two tickets to Jack Garvey, Cleveland Leader boxing writer and asked him to send Dunn on to California to box Nelson. Dunn refused the offer.

"Dun was smart, clever and believe me, a 'tough guy'," said Fessler. "If he had accepted the offer I feel sure he would have defeated Nelson." Nelson met Ad Wolgast that year and after a give-and-take battle, with no quarter being given or asked Wolgast won in the 40th round at Port Richmond, Cal. Referee Eddie Smith stopped the fight to save Nelson from further punishment.

Later Dunn traveled to California with Johnny Kilbane. That was in 1912, Washington's birthday to be exact. Dunn was behind Kilbane that day and after 20 rounds saw his protege's hand raised, a token that he was the new featherweight champion of the world. That was two years from the day Wolgast took the title from Nelson.

REPORT ON HANZY

Eddi Hanyzewski, who pitched for the Cubs in the spring, is now on option with Milwaukee and working regularly.

FOUR PUTOUTS IN ONE INNING

Durham club of the Piedmont league got four outs in one inning of a game against Portsmouth a few nights ago.

With the bases loaded and none out, the batter swung at a passed ball which hit the grandstand. It was the third strike and the batter is automatically out. But everybody on base moved up a peg and the batter ran to first. Nobody said a word and the game went merrilly on. This "ghost" runner got as far as second base, even if he didn't score. And Durham enjoyed four outs instead of the customary three.

Elders To Play Indies Tonight

Important City Loop Fray Billed For 6 O'Clock On Marshall Field

MOOSE SLUGGERS HOST TO POTTERY

Local baseball addicts are expected to converge upon Marshall field tonight where the inspired Elder A. C. battles the Lawrence Indies in the City Baseball league headliner.

The 6 o'clock fray holds the interest of local fans because the Indies currently head the loop and the Elders threaten to move from third to first.

Elders Primed

Last Tuesday the Elders cleared the way for the Indies' march into the first station by toppling the Moose, 10-3. By spanking the Zidowmen, the Elders can re-enter the title picture after almost being counted out due to a pair of forfeits.

Manager Dory Gunnett, well-rested, probably will take the knoll against the Indies. Manager Zidow may counter with his ace—Eddie VanDusen.

The game should be one of the most exciting of the season.

On Lee avenue field, the Moose club entertains the Shenango Pottery. Despite the Tuesday loss, the Moose can hop into the top pillar by winning while the Elders sock down the Indies. The Pottery, lodged in last place, cannot move out of the dungeon. Thus far, the Pottery has won two and lost nine.

WAR TRAVELING BAN HANDICAPS TENNIS TRAMPS

Game Now More Localized Proposition; Tourneys Ruled Out

By LOU MICHAELSON
International News Service Sports Writer

DENVER, July 1— The boys with the ice cream pants—the "tennis bums" have become one of the few worthwhile sports casualties of the war, according to dapper Ken Napier, tennis instructor at the Denver Country club.

Wartime travel curtailments have put a crimp in the activities of the handful of experts who dominated play in smaller cities and towns. Thus tennis is becoming more and more a localized proposition with the accent on home town talent, which said Napier, "is probably a good thing for the game."

Instead of the weekly tournament circuit so well known in the pre-Pearl Harbor days—a circuit that wound through the entire country and was monopolized by "amateur professionals"—the trend now leans toward active participation instead of a sideline relaxation.

Napier, who himself is awaiting a call to duty from Uncle Samuel, remarked: "Tennis probably is being played more extensively now than ever before." One reason is the new facilities at camps, posts and stations of the armed forces.

Memphis Chicks Boast Experience

If you happen to be looking around for the most experienced baseball team in the minor league today, turn to the Memphis Chicks of the Southern Association. Six of their members can boast of a grand total of 128 years of play in professional ball. That's an average of a bit better than 20 seasons apiece.

The range runs from Catcher Mickey O'Neil who has been squatting behind the bat for 26 years, to Catcher Joe Palmisano who has been being the same thing for 17 seasons. In between, there's Infielder Buster Chatham, on the job for 23 years, Pitcher Harry Kelley with 22 service stripes, Pitcher Henry Johnson with 21 and Pitcher Goat Walker with 19.

When Kelley and O'Neil form the battery for the Chicks there's 48 years of pro baseball experience working on the opposing batters.

WAACS MAKE SOFTBALL CLICK

"There is a surprising amount of interest in softball at the post this year," writes Cpl. Frank O'Riley in the Fort Sill "Army News." Cpl. O'Riley proceeds to explain that the WAAC softball team at Fort Sill probably accounts for the softball enthusiasm. "Every team on the post is eager to book the WAACS," the corporal informs —From Fort Sill "Army News."

Ensign Billy Soose, former world's middleweight champion, now is a navy censor in Alaska.

Miss Patty Berg Semi-Finalist

Cops Pair Of Easy Wins In Western Meet; Miss Germain Advances

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 1.—Patty Berg's comeback trail carried her into the semi-finals of the Women's Golf association's open tournament today as she teed off with Catherine Fox of Glen Ridge, N. J.

The former national champion from Minneapolis won a pair of easy victories in the quarter-finals and second round that left little doubt she had retained the golfing skill she displayed before she was injured in an automobile accident a year and a half ago.

In the other semi-final round today Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia meets Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga.

Penalizes Herself

The highlight of yesterday's quarter-finals was furnished by Elizabeth Hicks of Long Beach, Cal., one of the favorites in the tournament on the Glen Oak course, who lost her match with Miss Kirby by calling a penalty on herself.

On the extra hole of the match Miss Kirby got a par 5 and Miss Hicks missed a birdie by six inches. Irritated by her failure, Miss Hicks knocked her ball off the green.

As she walked toward the 20th hole, Miss Hicks called the penalty on herself for failing to hole out the 6-inch putt, declaring Miss Kirby had not conceded the shot. The match was awarded to the Georgia girl.

"I hate to win this way," Miss Kirby said, "for I certainly would have conceded the putt if she had given me time. I'm awfully sorry it happened."

Wins Easily

Miss Berg won her smashing victories over Marjorie Row of Detroit, 4 and 3, in the quarter-finals and over Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., 5 and 4, in the second round.

Her opponent in today's semi-finals, Miss Fox, defeated Mrs. O. H. Romadka of Rochester, Minn., 3 and 1, in the quarter-finals after eliminating Margaret Russell of Detroit, 7 and 6, in the second round.

Miss Germain, a Beaver college sophomore, entered the semi-finals with a 3 and 2 victory over Kay Byrne of Rye, N. Y., in the quarter-finals and a second round 4 and 3 triumph over Phyllis Otto of Atlantic, Ia., and Omaha, Neb.

Her opponent in the semi-finals, Miss Kirby, former southern champion, won from Miss Hicks, 1 up in 19 holes in the quarter-finals and defeated Betty Jane Haemerle of St. Louis, 7 and 6, in the second round.

BABE DAHLGREN TO GET HEARING ON DRAFT STATUS

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 1.—Babe Dahlgren, Phillies third sacker and leading hitter of the major leagues, will be given a hearing before a Philadelphia draft board early in August on his appeal for temporary delay on induction into the army.

Dahlgren learned yesterday his San Francisco board had placed him in 1-A. An immediate telephone call to the west coast, however, gave him an opportunity to make his appeal before a local board.

Elizabeth Hicks Enlists In Spars

Long Beach, California, Star Will Be Sworn In On Friday

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 1—Golfer Betty Hicks of Long Beach, Cal., enlisted today in the Spars, women's organization of the Coast Guard, and tomorrow will be sworn in at the Glen Oaks Country Club where she had been playing in the women's western open golf tournament.

"I've been thinking of entering the service for months, and believe every able-bodied girl or woman who can do so should release some man for combat duty," Miss Hicks said.

"But I do think the Coast Guard should do one thing for me. I'd like to know the identity of the man I release."

"Object matrimony, Miss Hicks?"

"You never can tell. I haven't any boy friend."

PHILLIES BUY FOUR PLAYERS

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 1.—Now the Phillies buy players in flocks.

Announcement was made today that the surprise team of baseball has purchased four players from Knoxville, of the Southern Association. Catcher Bob Finley and Outfielder Paul Busby and a pair of unnamed players make up the quartet.

QUICK PICKUPS:

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, July 1.—If Whirlaway was a human, instead of a horse, his retirement would be a front pag smash story. No Cobb, Ruth, Hornsby, Demsey, or Louis accomplished more than the terribly game, stretch-running thoroughbred with the long tail. None in the realm of sports provided more thrills. Anybody who ever saw him go will remember him. In these modern days he was the tops—maybe not the all-time tops, but the best we've seen when it came down to that winning move toward the payoff wire.

Whirly's record was 32 wins, 15 seconds and nine thirds in 60 starts, leaving him unplaced only four times as he broke the all-time money-winning record with a total of $561,161.50.

HAEGG IS LUCKY

Gunder Haegg undoubtedly is without guilt in the use of his name in testimonials back in Sweden, but he is a very lucky young gent to be able to retain his amateur standing.

If he ran for America instead of Sweden he would be washed up, or he would have to sue the offenders using his name to establish his lack of guilt.

It seems that in Sweden any shop-keeper can use a photo or the name of a celebrity in an advertisement without permission, whereas in this country a similar incident could lead to a damage suit.

Hence, somebody has inserted Haegg's picture or signature into an ad for rye bread, someone else has used him to plug wrist watches and still another was built up his advertising for clothing with Haegg as the come on.

Haegg personally denies having had anything to do with the ads. He says he was not asked for the use of his name, but admits there is nothing he can do about it under Swedish law.

WALKER MOST POPULAR

Dixie Walker has been confirmed as the most popular ball player in greater New York.

The Dodger outfielder led all his own teammates and the Yankees and Giants in the war bond sale among the citizens to establish the most popular performer in local spangles.

That's the Dixie Walker who has so much trouble each spring breaking into the Dodger lineup.

Palestra Court Now Mess Hall

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 1 — The University of Pennsylvania's Palestra, one of the largest indoor sports arenas in the east, today made its debut as a mess hall for army and navy trainees.

Used mainly as a basketball court since its construction 16 years ago, the entire playing floor plus the space capable of seating 10,000 spectators has been converted into a cafeteria which will feed a total of 1612 men at a sitting, University officials said.

BASS, 'CHUCK SEASON BEGINS

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 1. — The season for bass and woodchucks opened today, but state game and fish officials asserted that while stocks are abundant, it appeared that gasoline rationing will minimize hunting and fishing this year.

Fish Commissioner C. A. French pointed out that the pleasure driving ban will hinder the bass season in the same manner as it sharply reduced the number of trout fishermen late in May. . . .

War Scribbler Meets Kovacs

Noted Athlete, Now Corporal, Gives Lowdown On Life Of "Tennis Bum"

EARNED $17,000 AS PROFESSIONAL

(War Correspondent International News Service)

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, July 1—

Dear Boss: In an upside-down country where it is the middle of winter on the Fourth of July one might expect to meet Frankie Kovacs. And I did.

You remember Funny Frankie, the court jester. A couple years ago he was the second best tennis player in the country. He would have been the first except he was so busy clowning for the gallery that he couldn't keep what he humorously called a mind on his opponent. At that, he won the national indoor title, played on the Davis cup team and is the only man in history to go on a sitdown strike at Forest Hills.

He now is Corporal Kovacs, U. S. Army physical instructor, at the moment "somewhere in Australia." Frankie and I used to be neighbors in Oakland, Calif. His life story is one of the most wonderful that has never been published.

Pro In 1941

"I was declared a professional November 25, 1941," he once told me. "But I actually lost my virginity as an amateur New Year's day, 1938. That was the day I got $35 for playing in the Sugar Bowl tourney at New Orleans. I gave the boys their money's worth and lost to Joe Hunt in the second round. I think I won two games in two sets. What more could they expect for 35 clams?"

"I got $17,000 for my one season as a pro but it was a mistake," Kovacs sighs. "In the long run I would have made more money as an amateur."

Take it from a man who was one, being a tennis bum is no profession for an honorable man.

"You're just a bum in a monogrammed shirt and fancy drawers," Frankie mused one night. "You're invited to four cocktails a week by the society swells when you hit Southampton, Newport and rye but you're bored stiff by the small-talk and that's the only way you can get stiff because they keep you standing around four hours and expect you to get oiled on two drinks.

Publicity Seekers

"They don't want you. All they want is their names in the society columns for entertaining famous tennis stars. A couple of weeks of that you go back to the pool hall downtown, you meet a better class of people there. As far as the grass-court circuit is concerned it's just a flop and slop, that's all.

"You have to pick your spots and know the right people in the right places to make money. That's how you put the gouge on Indianapolis for $200, Houston for $275 and the Pacific southwest boys in Los Angeles for $725. All you get is prestige in the east. The food is awful and they put you up like cattle. At Southampton one year I was lucky to get an iron cot in an old broken-down mansion . . . with nineteen other bums.

"Maybe George Washington slept there. I couldn't."

FANNINS DEFEAT OAK STREET TEAM

Lefty Pyle, of the Fannins, hurled a no-hitter in an exhibition game on Lehigh Field last evening, while his mates were getting nine hits off Janacone to win 9-0 from the Oak Street Pirates.

Webber and Zedick drove in two runs each with doubles, a double play, Janacone to Morgan shutting off a scoring threat.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Oak Street Pir. 000 000 0—0 0 2
Fannins . . . . . 032 220 x—9 9 1
Batteries: Oak Street, Janacone and Padula; Fannins, Pyle and Webber.

Bucs To Protest Dick Conger Sale

Pittsburgh Supposedly Has First Call On Hurler Peddled To Phils

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 1 — The Pittsburgh Pirates today haven't been officially notified yet of the sale of right-handed pitcher Dick Conger from the Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League to the Phillies, but when they are, they are going to protest the purchase, President Bill Benswanger announced.

The club official said the first he learned of the deal was when he read about it in the papers, and added that under a working agreement existing between the Bucs and Toronto the Pirates have first call to all Maple Leaf players.

Conger, a former Buc who has won seven games this year, was sold outright to Toronto, but Benswanger declared the Pirates had to be notified of all Toronto transactions before they are concluded.

The draft probably will take Ross Edgemon, president of the Appalachian League, in the next month.

ULRICH NCAA GOLF CHAMPION

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 1 — Wallace Ulrich, 21-year-old sophomore from Carleton college of Northfield, Minn., was en route to Ohio to become a marine today, carrying with him the National College Athletic Association's golf title.

The rangy Carleton golfer, a native of Austin, Minn., became the first representative from a small school to win the coveted championship by defeating Bill Roden of the University of Texas, 4 and 2, at the Olympia Fields Country Club.

Churchill Says Seized Industries Will Be Returned

Declares Rightful Owners Will Get Industries Back In Nazi Countries

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 1.— Prime Minister Winston Churchill today reiterated before the House of Commons that industries in occupied countries seized by Germany will be returned to their rightful owners after the war.

Answering a question from the floor, the British war leader said inter-allied experts are studying international law on the subject and collecting the necessary data.

"You may rest assured that one of the aims of his majesty's government and the governments of the United Nations will be to insure that Europe will be totally purged of the economic servitude forced upon her by Germany," the prime minister said.

Questioned on the reported Anglo-American "interference" in French problems at Algiers, Churchill emphasized that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander-in-chief of allied forces in North Africa, has the fullest support of official London and Washington and acts on directives from the United States capital.

"The main direction of the campaign in North Africa  was under United States authorities, but we are also in frequent communication with the American government and, personally, I am in the closest accord with President Roosevelt in all the steps that have been taken," Churchill said.

Asked if it is necessary that Gen. Henri Honore Giraud remain supreme commander of the French armed forces, in order to insure the safety of allied troops and communications in North Africa, the prime minister replied:

"I certainly consider that necessary at this time."

Crew Of Gallant 'Memphis Belle' To Be Scattered

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 1.—The 10-man crew of the Flying Fortress "Memphis Belle", together during 25 bombing missions over occupied Europe, are soon to be scattered on new assignments, but last night they stood as one man to receive the acclamation of 10,000 grateful Pittsburghers.

Captain Robert K. Morgan, 24, keen-eyed pilot of the battle-scarred bomber, told the crowd which had assembled at Forbes Field, home of thet Pittsburgh Pirates, to honor the young fliers, that it should be the production workers who receive medals and plaudits.

Morgan revealed that at the end of the crew's tour of the nation's industrial plants some of the men were going to cadet school and officers' training schools, or to become instructors at the army's aviation schools.

Miss Quinn Leaves Extension Service

Home Economics Extension Representative Here Resigns To Become SPAR

Announcement was made today by Lewis C. Dayton, County Agent of the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension Association, of the resignation of Miss Anna Marie Quinn as Home Economics Extension Representative in Lawrence county, effective June 30.

Miss Quinn has served this office for the past 15 months. She expects to take up training as an officer candidate in the SPARS, joining two brothers now in service. She expects to report for her indoctrination training on August 15.

Succeeding Miss Quinn temporarily, will be Mrs. Fred L. Taylor, who is well known to Lawrence county farm folks, having served as Home Economics Extension Representative for several years, prior to her marriage. She will be remembered as Miss Julia Markle.

HOW IT'S DONE

Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yanks has a way of breaking in his young stars. He plays them for a month or six weeks and then takes them out. They can sit on the bench and see what's going on and how they have been making mistakes.

Ration Board At Franklin Refuses To Judge For OPA

(Special To The News)

FRANKLIN, July 1—War price and rationing board at Franklin has balked at sitting as a judgment panel on alleged violators of the pleasure driving ban. Members of the board declared they have enough to do handling ration problems.

This stand was taken after six motorists had been cited to the local board by representatives from the Erie branch OPA. The representatives were informed that the board did not desire to hear cases reported to them by OPA agents.

The Erie group replied by declaring that the OPA will send its own panel of investigators here from time to time to "crack down" on pleasure drivers.

KELLEHER FARMED

CINCINNATI, O., June 21.—Cincinnati officials disclosed today that Frankie Kelleher, an outfielder, has been shipped to Syracuse of the International league on 24-hour recall.

Two Pennsylvania Marines Decorated

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 1 — Two Pennsylvania marines today were recipients of the Silver Star medal.

Corporal George F. Lutchkus, 24, of Coaldale received the award for removing wounded and bringing up ammunition until he himself was wounded during fighting on the front line in the Solomons.

Corporal Joseph J. Mulcahy, 19-year-old Philadelphian, who enlisted less than two months after the attack on Pearl Harbor, served as a gunner in the Solomons campaign where his "conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity during action against Japanese forces on November 3, 1942," won him his citation.

TELEGRAPH TRACK MEET IS LATEST

(International News Service)

DENTON, Tex., July 1.—Regardless of the transportation situation, track meets can still be staged as long as the telegraph companies stay in business.

This would seem to be the lesson from the recent Lone Star Conference telegraphic track meet, which matched performances of the men in service reserves at the five Texas members of the conference.

First place went to North Texas State, which piled up 118 points for top honors, much as they used to in peacetime competition. Southwest Texas State scored 35 for second place. The North Texas Marine Reserves grabbed the biggest hunk of honors with 56 5-6 points.

GIRL LIFEGUARDS MAY BE EMPLOYED

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, July 1—The ever-present "manpower shortage" has shouldered the blame for another problem. This time it has to do with the summertime opening of St. Louis Municipal pools.

It seems that girl lifeguards—for the first time—may be employed at the pools.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

It looks like summer has come and gone and we sit here in a chill . . . a good many homes yesterday built fires in the furnaces . . . now that's no way to conserve coal, but you just can't freeze. We really feel sorry for the few who have braved the times and are now taking their vacation at the lake . . . bet they wish they were home in their own little beds . . . some weather, hey kids.

The first day of July . . . just a few more days and the 4th will be here which means that the Victory Gardener must keep at his garden now . . . cut down the weeds and you won't have too much difficulty in keeping them under control the rest of the season . . . and we didn't hear about too many people putting up cherries this year . . . the few cherries that did ripen were eaten by the birds so humans can do without. Keep at your food supply . . . it's mighty important.

Children have their falls and then have falls . . . the "L. Q." has fallen since she was old enough to walk . . . but Tuesday she had the only fall so far that needed medical attention . . . off the tricycle she went and the sidewalk was closer than she figured . . . she lead with her chin . . . one stitch is holding the gap closed . . . The fun of being a parent has its tense moments. Child and Parents are progressing nicely at this point.

Beware of the officer of the law who must according to his Honor shoot down dogs that are permitted to run lose in the city. We hope that not once will it be necessary to carry out the order of shoot to kill . . . keep your dogs tied or under control . . . respect the rights of others. You are living in the United States of America . . . .

* * *

Carpet baggers are pretty slick beings . . . they come into town and open up a place of business and the first thing you know they are in this organization or the head of this and that civic idea . . . They keep getting deeper and deeper. Too many times a wee bit too de

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

It looks like summer has come and gone and we sit here in a chill . . . a good many homes yesterday built fires in the furnaces . . . now that's no way to conserve coal, but you just can't freeze. We really feel sorry for the few who have braved the times and are now taking their vacation at the lake . . . bet they wish they were home in their own little beds . . . . some weather, hey kids.

The first day of July . . . just a few more days and the 4th will be here which means that the Victory Gardener must keep at his garden now . . . cut down the weeds and you won't have too much difficulty in keeping them under control the rest of the season . . . and we didn't hear about too many people putting up cherries this year . . . the few cherries that did ripen were eaten by the birds so humans can do without. Keep at your food supply . . . it's mighty important.

Children have their falls and then have falls . . . the "L. Q." has fallen since she was old enough to walk . . . but Tuesday she had the only fall so far that needed medical attention . . . off the tricycle she went and the sidewalk was closer than she figured . . . she lead with her chin . . . one stitch is holding the gap closed . . . The fun of being a parent has its tense moments. Child and Parents are progressing nicely at this point.

Beware of the officer of the law who must according to his Honor shoot down dogs that are permitted to run lose in the city. We hope that not once will it be necessary to carry out the order of shoot to kill . . . keep your dogs tied or under control . . . respect the rights of others. You are living in the United States of America . . . .

* * *

Carpet baggers are pretty slick beings . . . they come into town and open up a place of business and the first thing you know they are in this organization or the head of this and that civic idea . . . They keep getting deeper and deeper. Too many times a wee bit too deep and then without warning off they go. Life is sure interesting but keep your wits about you and don't let these C. B.'s take you over . . . especially at election time.

Yanks In Britain Wonder At Meat Shortage In U. S.

Baffled At 'Black Market' Stories, Question Efficiency Of Rationing Here

CONTRAST BRITAIN'S SMOOTH-RUNNING PLAN

Editor's Note: This, the third in a series of 4 authoritative articles dealing with rationing in Britain, illustrates how meat rationing, a major headache for most American housewives, has been made a smooth-working procedure in Britain, guaranteeing everyone a weekly supply of fresh meat.—INS.)

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, July 1.—American soldiers in Britain are troubled at the stories reaching them from home today describing the often chaotic meat rationing conditions there.

They read stories in British newspapers about hotel and restaurant tables literally groaning under food supplied by the black market. And they cannot help contrasting these stories with descriptions in letters from home about weary visits to empty bucher's shops.

They cannot figure it out. They think of the United States as the land of plenty. They remember the great stockyards of the mid-west, the vast herds ranging the plains. And while they know Uncle Sam is feeding a large part of the world and is having to take care of a ravenous meat-eating army of his own, they think there should be enough left over to guarantee mom and pop, and sister and brother, getting a little fresh meat each week.

Return of Gang Mobs?

They cannot help getting together and talking about "black market" stories, wondering whether a botched up rationing scheme has resulted in the restablishment of the old gang mob days of the Capones and the Schultzes.

It also is only natural that they contrast meat rationing back home with the smooth-working efficient British system they have come to know, and the grumbling back home with the cheerful, co-operative spirit in which the British seem to be making the best of their own severe rationing.

Here, the livestock marketing scheme came into force at the beginning of 1940, when short stocks made it imperative that meat supplies be rigidly and drastically rationed. The number of livestock reaching the black market since that time has been infinitismal.

From Hoof to Table

Today, the ministry of food controls all meat from the hoof to the table. Immediately after the invocation of the livestock marketing scheme, the ministry took over all slaughter houses, reduced the 11,000 slaughter houses to seven or eight hundred, situated strategically in every part of the country where cattle are raised.

Collecting centers were formed, and a law was slapped down which said that cattle for slaughter could only be sold at a collectin center, and then only to the ministry of food, which became the sole buyer.

Slaughter Regulations

Cattle can only be slaughtered at one of the approved slaughter houses. Slaughtered cattle can only be sent to licensed collecting centers, for purchase by the ministry and distribution by ministry agents, who in fact are approved trade distributors. They, in turn, sell to retail butchers and the meat finds its way onto the table by means of the ration book. Inspection and supervision is maintained at every stage.

No one can slaughter livestock except under licenses. Infrigements draw down harsh penalties but they are small compared to the number of livestock slaughtered annually.

Imported Meat

Imported meat—and most of the meat sold in Britain is imported becomes the property of the ministry of food immediately it is landed on the dockside. It is distributed by the ministry through the licensed wholesalers to the local butchers.

Any attempt to establish a black market in meat was nipped before it could get going—by maximum price orders, rigidly enforced, by control of slaughtering and distribution at every stage, by heavy penalties for the most minor infringement on the part of the farmer, the wholesaler, the butcher, and the consumer.

And as a result of this rigid control, every holder of a ration book gets his or her 29 cents worth of meat, every week, with unfailing regularity.

The fourth and last article in this series describes the method by which Britain has ruthlessly wiped out every major black food market effort.—INS.

Charles Lamb thought a knock at the door the most interesting of all sounds. Moderns are more interested in hearing themselves knock the neighbors.

Nation-Wide War Bond Drive Starts In J.C.Penney Stores

July 1 marks the opening of a nation-wide war bond and stamp sales drive in 1610 J. C. Penney Co. department stores throughout the country. As a send-off to the campaign, Secretary of the Treasury Henry J. Morgenthau, Jr., prepared a message of congratulation and good wishes addressed to every Penney employee.

This is the second time the Penney company has been recognized in this way. At the conclusion of Penney's $8,422,553.85 July bond drive last year, Secretary Morgenthau once before accorded the Penney company personal congratulations.

Penney employees, determined that the Treasury Department will again find their July sales of war bonds and stamps worthy of attention, start off this July with sales of at least $10,0000,000.00 as their goal.

The Penney company's bond drive this July, like that last year, takes the form of a sales contest in which all employees and all stores of the chain compete for state and national awards.

Plans for the bond drive at the local Penney store, 214 East Washington street, include solicitation of all customers and relatives and friends and associates, it was announced by Manager W. E. Langan.

Nothing can be done in a day if the day always is tomorrow.

Highway Plan And Turnpike Extension Outlined By Martin

Huge Post-War Plan Includes Extending Superhighway Between Ohio, Lancaster

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 1.—A $268,000,000 state highway improvement program, including extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, was outlined Wednesday by Gov. Edward Martin.

The chief executive recommended post-war reconstruction of main highways between Pittsburgh and Erie, from Pittsburgh to West Virginia and Ohio, and extensions of the Pennsylvania Turnpike to Lancaster in the East and Ohio in the West. He also urged the construction of four-lane highways along the Susqueshanna river through the hard coal fields and from Harrisburg to New Jersey on the route to New York.

The governor said he opposed extending the Turnpike beyond Lancaster because it would destroy productive farmlands.

"I have to do a lot of figuring before I'll approve destroying a lot of productive land between here and Philadelphia," the governor explained.

The governor pointed out that extension of the superhighway, authorized by the 1941 legislature, would virtually ruin the productivity of much of the land in southeastern Pennsylvania, particularly in Lebanon, Lancaster and Chester counties.

"I'm wondering," he added, "if we run the Turnpike between Harrisburg and Lancaster and improve the balance of the highway (eastward), if we wouldn't have a pretty good road."

The westward extension of the Turnpike would be coordinated with street-highway improvements in Pittsburgh to relieve traffic bottlenecks there, he explained, while in the East the improvement program would include reconstruction of the Delaware river bridge approaches in Philadelphia.

The governor added, however, that the state must be cautious and not put too much money in highway reconstruction during the post-war era because of the increase in air transportation.

Entire Hillsville Family Blood Donors

To Mrs. Daniel Creature of Hillsville, who has given a pint of blood for the blood plasma work of the Red Cross, goes the distinction of having been the first woman of Hillsville to make this vital contribution.

And in addition the rest of the family, including Mr. Creature and their daughters, Viola and Eleanora, also have registered to give to the Red Cross Blood Donor Service, a pint of blood during the stay of the mobile unit here.

Mrs. Creature and her both daughters are employed in the clay shop of the Shenango Pottery.

TO DRILL "DEEP WELL"

SLIPPERY ROCK, July 1—A "deep well", one of the first in this district, will be drilled by the Manufacturers Light and Heat company of Pittsburgh at the Bert Hockenberry farm soon. Preparations are now under way; the first well may be as deep as 7,000 feet.

COMPLETE TESTIMONY

Testimony was completed Wednesday in the habeas corpus proceeding brought by Clarence McCloskey against his wife, Pauline McCloskey, in which he asks for the custody of their two sons. They are from Ellwood City. The proceeding was heard by Judge John G. Lamoree.

The hearing required three sessions and developed many personal angles in the lives of the litigants.

VANCE STILL ILL

Clifford Vance, the court crier, is still confined to his home with illness but is expected back on the job within a few days. Since he has been away, his duties have been handled by Mrs. Mary Conti, court interpreter and tipstaff.

ICE CREAM

Ice cream seems to be the most popular American food. People eat it at home, in the church, on the street, at school and wherever they can get it.

It is a good food. It contains protein and fat and minerals and vitamins. Besides all these things it tastes good.

Some people seem to think that to be religious they must be miserable.

Some people seem to think that eatables which are good for you must taste bad.

It used to be that all medicine tasted bad. Nowadays capsules and pills and tablets have no bad taste.

Good people should be happy and look good. Good food should taste good and look good.

Ice cream does both.

Eat all you can get.

If you are fat do not eat it.
